Educators Told U. S. Aid Means Progress Humphrey and Ike Confer on Soviet Secrets

Khrushy's Note Given President

Nuclear Blasts, Rockets Topics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) today gave President Eisenhower a confidential message from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev dealing with Russian nuclear explosions.

Humphrey, just back from Moscow, also told Eisenhower about secret Soviet developments in the field of rockets.

Meet 80 Minutes
The senator gave the President an 80-minute oral report on the eight-hour conference he had with Khrushchev.

Afterward, Humphrey told newsmen his report to Eisenhower regarding Soviet nuclear explosions and developments in the rocket field are the two secrets which he had stated earlier Khrushchev had told him.

He added that the Soviet Premier had asked him specifically to pass on to Eisenhower the information dealing with Russian nuclear explosions.

Humphrey said Khrushchev also asked him to pass on to the President some suggestions dealing with the Berlin crisis. The senator said he personally regarded those suggestions as unacceptable to the Western Powers.

Declines Details
Humphrey declined to provide any detail regarding the information he passed on to Eisenhower. He said it is up to the administration to decide whether the American public should be informed.

Humphrey has gained wide publicity from his eight-hour conference in Moscow with Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders, and from the news conferences he has held since then in Moscow, London, New York and Washington.

May Help '60 Hopes
His hopes for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination aren't hurt either by the invitation to confer with the President on grave international matters.

Eisenhower gave the 47-year-old senator a chance to show himself in international affairs as a delegate to the United Nations last year. But he has not previously been in the top echelon of congressional Democrats consistently consulted by the administration.

"I don't think we're going to make any progress politically with the Soviets for a long time," Humphrey told a news conference Monday. "No great political decisions are in the offing."

Against War Now
But he said the Soviet Union doesn't want a war for at least seven years, because war would ruin her plans for achieving development goals.

The senator was optimistic about chances of negotiating an East-West agreement to end nuclear tests, including an effective inspection system.

He saw less chance of a settlement of the Berlin dispute, which he said is "very serious and deep."

Ryan Appeal Will Be Argued Wednesday

An appeal to the Appellate Division, New York State Supreme Court, from the 30-day jail sentence imposed by Justice Henry Clay Greenberg in the contempt proceedings against Morgan D. Ryan, will be argued at Albany Wednesday.

The argument will be before the full five-man court at the closing session of the November term of the Appellate Court. Decision is expected to be reserved.

Scheduled 10 a. m.
Ryan will be represented by Attorneys N. LeVan Haver and John E. Egan. Special Prosecutor Bernard Tompkins and his chief assistant, Leonard Reisman, will appear for respondent. The matter has been set down for 10 o'clock "or as soon thereafter as counsel may be heard."

Ryan, a former official of the defunct Ulster Bituminous Company, was sentenced to 30 days in the Ulster County jail on November 24 by Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg for refusal to answer questions before the special grand jury investigating kickbacks.

Sentence Stayed
The order of Justice Greenberg sentencing Ryan to jail was stayed that same day when counsel for Ryan appeared in Albany before the Appellate Division and asked for a stay of execution and for bail pending argument of the matter before the higher court. Bail was set at $500 and Ryan was later released from custody of Sheriff Bell.

At the time the matter was presented to the Appellate Division, that court indicated it would be desirable to argue the matter at the present term, but

Thinks Licensing 16-Year-Olds Is Dangerous Move

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The chairman of a legislative committee on traffic says that licensing 16-year-olds to drive is a dangerous practice.

Sen. Edward J. Speno (R-Nassau County) said Monday he would ask the 1959 Legislature to adopt a measure aimed at barring the 16-year-olds from operating automobiles in New York State.

Speno is chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Traffic Violations.

He said he also would introduce legislation to:

1. Revise a much-criticized law that will require drivers of small trucks, including farmers, to obtain special chauffeur's licenses.
2. Require that mechanics inspect brake linings of motor vehicles undergoing mandatory state inspection. The present test is based on performance of brakes.
3. Change the wording of the drunken-driving statute from "driving while intoxicated" to "driving while under the influence of alcohol." He said the change would make the law more enforceable.

The chairman said he had not that was not made a condition of the order granting the stay of the jail sentence.

After Information
At a press conference following the sentencing of Ryan, Special Prosecutor Tompkins said he was more interested in the "information Mr. Ryan has than in any desire for punishment" and he said if Ryan would agree to testify before the grand jury "fully and honestly" he would personally make an application

Would Cut Tax, Hike Benefits

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The state's Democratic party is calling for cancellation of a scheduled increase in the payroll tax that supports the unemployment insurance fund.

At the same time, the Democrats are asking that maximum benefits paid from the fund be raised from $45 to $50 weekly.

The proposals are in the 1959 legislative program of the Democratic minority of the Legislature.

The first major segment of the program—27 bills and three resolutions dealing with labor matters—went to the GOP-controlled Legislature Monday for action in the 1959 session, which begins Jan. 7.

Fostered by Harriman
The Democratic proposals were fostered by Gov. Harriman. Most of the measures have been urged by him previously. He advocated many during his unsuccessful campaign for re-election.

Employers now pay a 2.7 per cent payroll tax to support the unemployment insurance fund. The 1958 Legislature passed a law under which the tax is to go to 3 per cent next year on most employers.

The added revenue will finance an increase in benefits voted this year. That increase brought the maximum weekly payment from $36 to $45.

Other Bills Filed
The Democratic program was filed by Joseph Zaretzky of Manhattan, Senate minority leader, and Anthony J. Travia of Brooklyn, designated as Assembly minority leader.

Other bills filed would make these changes in the unemployment insurance program:

1. Reduce from 20 to 15 weeks the period in which a person must be employed to qualify for benefits.
2. Extend the program to companies that hire only one worker, thus adding 150,000 individuals to the rolls of eligibles.
3. Extend the eligibility period for benefits from the normal 26 weeks to 39 weeks automatically during recessions.
4. Provide an extra $4 a week

Area Mishaps Are Minor From Storm

Snow blanketed Ulster County during the night but the area remained surprisingly free of vehicular mishaps.

Slippery and dangerous highways were reported in the area caused by the approximate one-inch fall.

Local residents could be thankful, however, in view of the storms which have pelted Oswego, the Lake Ontario city of 23,000 persons.

More in Oswego
While the worst appeared to be over for the buffeted residents of Oswego, the city came in for about two more inches of snow early today and made a total of four feet on the ground where there had been no drifting.

Approximately 37 inches had piled up since noon Sunday on top of an 11-inch base.

Police patrol cars delivered milk and a snowplow assisted a maternity case as Oswego fought back from the worst snowstorm in its history.

Cold Hits Areas
Bone-chilling temperatures were on the menu today in broad areas from the Continental Divide to New England, according to the Associated Press.

Minor local mishaps as reported by area state police were:

At 3:20 p. m. a tractor-trailer skidded on ice on Route 209 in Stone Ridge, went off the left side of the road and into a ditch, the trailer blocking one lane of the highway.

The tractor-trailer, owned by Forest Produce Company, Morristown, Tenn., operated by Charles Lee Whittington, 27, of that city, was proceeding north when an unknown car slowed to make a left turn. Whittington applied his brakes and went into a skid.

Car Strikes Deer

Neither the driver, nor a passenger, Fox Britton, 36, of Talbot, Tenn., were injured. Trooper David Wachtel of the Kingston state police investigated.

At 6:15 p. m. Monday a 1954 sedan operated by Charles Harris, 43, of Accord, was damaged when it struck a deer on

59,666 Vehicles Use Local Span During November

November travel over the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge was 18.22 per cent better than a year ago, John S. Stillman, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, reported today.

The four bridges under control of the authority, he said showed a gain of 2.87 per cent.

The local bridge clocked 59,666 vehicles as compared to 50,469 in November, 1957. A total of 591,804 was clocked on the four spans compared to 575,275 in November, 1957.

A loss of 6.21 per cent was noted on the Rip Van Winkle Bridge which showed totals of 105,116 against 113,141. The Bear Mountain Bridge clocked 118,071 against 111,664 for a gain of 5.74 per cent and the Mid-Hudson totals were 307,951 and 300,001 for a gain of 2.65 per cent.

Travel on the Newburgh-Beacon ferry dropped by 6.75 per cent, with totals of 35,868 and 38,464.

Experts See Demotion in Serov Change

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's top policeman, Gen. Ivan A. Serov, has been relieved of his job. The announcement in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia today said he had been transferred to other duties but gave no hint of what they were.

Serov's successor as chairman of the Committee for State Security also was not announced.

Could Be Boost

Most foreign observers in Moscow believed Serov may perhaps have been given an even more important job. He has long been a friend and close associate of Nikita S. Khrushchev, who heads both the government and the Communist party.

(Some Western experts on Soviet affairs believed Serov had been demoted because the Levstia announcement did not give his new post, the customary procedure when a Kremlin official is promoted.)

Serov, a 53-year-old army general, had become well known abroad in recent years for being in charge of security arrangements on Premier Khrushchev's trips. He was widely known earlier for directing the plan to liquidate anti-Communist elements in the Baltic countries in 1940.

Flemming Says Plan Is Not Invasion of Power Kingston Native in Cabinet Declares All Governments Have Duty to Schools

Federal aid to education as defined in the National Defense Education Act passed by Congress late last summer is "truly landmark legislation," Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in President Eisenhower's Cabinet, told some 250 school officials, teachers and board of education members attending the fall meeting of the Mid-Hudson School Study Council Monday evening at New Paltz State Teachers College.

Flemming, a native of Kingston, whose father, the late Judge Harry H. Flemming, served for 20 years as a member of the Kingston Board of Education, 14 as its president, emphasized, however, that entrance of the federal government into the field of education should not be construed as an invasion by federal power. His mother sat with him on the dais.

The federal government is simply endeavoring to become an effective partner with the nation's public schools and higher institutions of learning, he stated.

He explained that the legislation is so worded that the federal program cannot intrude on the domain of teaching itself. Education must be the responsibility of state and local educational units and private institutions, he said.

Hopes for Agreement

Dr. Flemming pointed out that the nation is "desperately in need of national goals" in the field of education. He hopes that interested groups will be able to agree on such goals and on what constitutes a fair share of cost for the federal government, states and local units.

Flemming envisages a partnership in which the federal government brings together the various smaller units into consultation to determine if agreement can't be reached on national goals—"where we'd like to be five years from now" and what is a fair share of the cost. He wants to see educational thinking brought down to earth and applied to specific goals.

Progress toward national goals should be sustained, not spasmodic and irregular, he said. There must be proper motivation toward such goals, which means that we must really want to reach the goals set, he told the council. He pointed out that he disagrees with colleagues who feel that fear of Russia, particularly intense with the launching of Sputnik, is a desirable and effective source of motivation.

Sustained Effort Best

Flemming said he felt that we are already beginning to forget about Sputnik, that fear is not an adequate goal, that what is required is a "sustained effort" to achieve national goals.

The basis of national goals is spiritual, he said, emphasizing that spiritual motivation alone will make it possible to identify our national goals and "travel the second mile" toward those objectives.

He stated emphatically that national goals with a spiritual motivation are essential to the survival of this nation and Western Civilization.

It is imperative, he said, that the United States fully utilizes its human resources, pointing out that this was a major challenge to his department and to the nation itself.

Taking Advantage Vital
Survival depends on our ability to take full advantage of the

Warheads on Subs For Globe Shots Are Near Reality

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP) — Missile - packing nuclear submarines that can carry atomic warheads within reach of any part of the globe are only weeks away from reality.

The USS Halibut, which the Navy says will be the world's first of this type, will be launched next month at Mare Island Naval Shipyard, San Francisco.

The submarine missile firing system has been duplicated on a surface vessel and will be tested today for the first time with the launching of a Regulus II guided missile from the Pacific missile range here.

The USS King County, a converted World War II tank landing ship, will be the first surface ship to send a Regulus II aloft.

One of these missiles was launched by the conventionally powered submarine Grayback last September, but the Grayback did not have the intricate firing and tracking facilities going into the nuclear Halibut.

The 11-ton, 57-foot Regulus II has been fired successfully many times.

GOP Leaders Say Tax Hike Decision Is Up to Rocky

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Republican legislative leaders say it's up to Gov.-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller to decide whether it will be necessary to increase gasoline and cigarette taxes to meet a budget deficit.

Assembly Majority Leader Joseph F. Carlino and Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck said that the problem is primarily one to be ironed out by the new Republican administration. They indicated that GOP legislative leaders will be guided by the administration's policy.

Carlino and Heck commented on the possibility of the tax boosts Monday after attending a meeting with Rockefeller at his temporary headquarters here.

"I certainly think we'll need more revenue, and those are two available sources," Carlino said. "They are the least dangerous to the state's economy. They don't have anything to do with state business."

He added: "We are part of the administration now and we will be guided to a large extent by the governor and his executive department, and until they formulate the needs of the state, I don't wish to comment on any aspect of it."

Heck said that Dr. T. Norman Lurd, the new budget director, was preparing a report on taxes. He said the question will "be determined when we all get together and will be party policy."

Rockefeller has said that at least 200 million dollars in new revenue will be needed to balance the budget he will submit to the Legislature about Feb. 1.

Sen. Walter J. Mahoney, majority leader of the upper house, withdrew his opposition to an increase in the state gas tax last Thursday. Mahoney did not attend the meeting Monday.

Before attending the meeting, Rockefeller had lunch with former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. An aide said the two Republicans discussed state problems but declined to elaborate.

Weidenborner Honored by Police, Lauded by Mayor on Complete Job

A farewell dinner and social hour was given last night at Shannon's Restaurant, Woodstock, by the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, for Lt. Kenneth E. Weidenborner, of the State Police, who assisted during the past several months with the reorganization of the Kingston Police Department.

Lt. Weidenborner is due to leave the city next week for an assignment in western New York.

A statement by Mayor Edwin F. Radel, who was unable to attend because of a meeting in the city, was read in tribute to Lt. Weidenborner's work in reorganizing the police department.

Thorough Officer

The mayor noted his "sincere friendship," and said the association was an enjoyable one. He will be remembered as a friend and gentleman, he said. "But let us consider and be more thankful for the association with Kenneth E. Weidenborner, the state policeman, the technician, the instructor, the cops' cop."

Upon his taking office as mayor, he noted, he "inherited a police department that required almost a full-scale face lifting and as I have said many times, this is one move, of which I am most proud."

Long Hours on Job

Lt. Weidenborner, he said, "spent long, and tedious hours working over the new rules and regulations, which are now being distributed. Endless hours have been spent compiling and indexing a complete traffic ordinance, which is almost ready for printing because of Ken's efforts."

Also, he noted, the filing system is modernized, the work schedule revised, work load stabilized, and all received accelerated training. "I could go on for some time yet outlining reasons why you should be more than thankful for the presence and efforts of Ken Weidenborner," he said.

The mayor said he will miss him, "for while he has accomplished much, the job is not fully complete, and I shall need all of your cooperation to finish it in his absence."

"Sincere thanks Ken," he concluded, "for all you have done for us, and here's hoping your next assignment will be as pleasant for you as your present one has been for us."

from filing system to the rules and regulations that govern its operation, and including a paint job and remodeling to boot."

The mayor said he ignored some political sharpshooting and "acquired the services of Lt. Ken through the Governor's office,

Supervisors Meet Wednesday Night

A meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m. At that time the date for a public hearing on the 1959 county budget will be set. The work of "whipping the budget" into shape is expected to be concluded in time for the session Wednesday, it was said today.

The budget is expected to be considerably larger than this year's budget due to added welfare costs, expenditures of surplus and therefore lack of appreciable balance in the 1958 budget which can be applied to the 1959 budget.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our many relatives, friends and neighbors, clergy for their acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy shown in the death of our mother, Caroline Forgy.

Legislators Tell CC Next Session Painful Tax-Wise

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and Senator E. Ogden Bush told Chamber of Commerce leaders that the forthcoming session of the State Legislature would be a "painful" session, tax-wise.

Both legislators attended an informal luncheon meeting of the Chamber's State Legislative Affairs Committee and directors yesterday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Committee chairman John Posen presided.

Numerous items of legislation which are likely to be considered by the legislature, which goes into session on January 6, were discussed. It was pointed out that approximately 50 per cent of the State's budget is returned to municipalities, towns and counties, as state aid, with the state merely acting as a collection agent. Increases in per capita state aid for education and other uses would rise materially due to increases in population. "The law provides that the state budget must be balanced," Wilson said, "and this means new taxes, the question is which taxes should be increased."

The Chamber's State Legislative Affairs Committee has assigned general types of legislation for study and special attention to members of the committee. Members are invited to suggest legislation on which stands should be taken. Action to be taken will be recommended to the board of directors.

At a meeting of the Lomontville Fire District Dec. 2 Joseph Glicker of Ashkan Road was elected fire commissioner for a five year term. Treasurer Benjamin Van Wagenen made his annual report and reports from subordinate organizations were received.

Liberals . . .

fore party positions are taken. Another would require more party caucuses. Now there normally is only one binding caucus each session, and it is limited to organization matters.

Still another proposal is to bring to life the dormant Democratic Policy Committee of the House.

One of the liberals said his group estimated its own minimum strength at 85, but that soundings among some of the newly elected Democrats indicated it could count on a higher active membership.

Would Cut Tax

in benefits, to a maximum $12, for each dependent of claimants.

Propose Full Regulation
The Democrats also proposed that all welfare and pension funds be brought under state regulation. The state now regulates only those funds administered jointly by labor and management.

Also renewed was an earlier party proposal to pay disabled workers $10 a day, to a maximum $150, for hospital costs.

The Democratic resolutions proposed that the Legislature ask Congress to outlaw so-called right-to-work laws across the nation, raise the federal minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour and establish federal standards for unemployment insurance benefits.

The automatic extension on the eligibility period would become operative when the state industrial commissioner certified that the number of claimants in the state had risen to six per cent of the number of workers covered.

Special Paints Required

Asbestos cement products require specially prepared paints. They must be alkali resistant. Included are solvent-thinned resin-coatings and emulsion, or latex coatings. Off-vehicle masonry paint is also satisfactory.

The U. S. Army Infantry M1 rifle weighs 9½ pounds. The bayonet adds an extra pound.

Area Mishaps

The Kripplebush road in the hamlet of Lyonsville. The buck ran in front of the car as it proceeded west on an upgrade. The deer, killed by the impact, was turned over to the Conservation Department for welfare use.

About two inches of snow fell early today and made a total of four feet on ground where there had been no drifting, the city's official weather observer reported. Approximately 37 inches had piled up since noon Sunday on top of an 11-inch base, he said.

Snow squalls and flurries also pelted other areas of the state. The worst appeared to be over in this Lake Ontario city of 23,000, the observer, Elmer Loveridge, said.

Corsall Tours Oswego

Mayor Vincent A. Corsall toured the city to determine whether to continue an emergency he set Monday when the storm paralyzed the community.

The declaration put city forces on a 24-hour basis. Police reported swift progress in recovery with the aid of plows rushed in by the state, Onondaga County, Rochester and Watertown.

Schools, Plants Closed

Plows concentrated on main routes. State Police reported most were open. Many secondary highways also were restored to service, at least for one-way traffic.

But schools and factories remained closed. The city's high school was turned into a shelter to receive any residents driven from their homes by cold or lack of food. There was no immediate demand.

Red Cross and Civil Defense units stood by.

Police set up an emergency service to deliver milk. A plow churned a path Monday for an ambulance that took Mrs. Catherine Shannan to Oswego Hospital, where she awaited the birth of a child.

The plows escorted fuel trucks on emergency deliveries to homes that had run out of oil and coal. Four families were reported marooned in their homes on the Lake Ontario shore.

Roof of Home Collapses

Eight persons were driven from a two-family home Monday night when the roof collapsed under the weight of snow. The families went to homes of relatives and friends.

Firemen probed through snowbanks and drifts to determine the location of hydrants. Telephone operators and hospital aides joined policemen, firemen and snowplow crews in working around the block.

Pedestrians abroad walked down streets piled on either side with snow well over the walkers' heads. Mrs. Gudrun O'Leary walked on snowshoes to her nursing post at the City Hospital.

A 14-year-old boy whose hip was broken in a sledding accident had to wait while plows opened a route for an ambulance that took him to a hospital.

Bitter cold knifed into Midwest sections as snow diminished in most areas west of the Mississippi Valley. The snow, however, continued in the Northeast.

Lowest of Season

Lowest temperatures of the season were reported in many parts of the snow belt from the Rockies to deep into the mid-Mississippi Valley and the Missouri Valley.

Below zero temperatures were common throughout Montana and the Dakotas and were reported as far south as central sections of Illinois and Indiana and in southern Iowa.

One of the coldest spots was International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border. The thermometer dipped to 28 degrees below zero, which was a slight improvement over Monday's -32 reading.

In South Dakota, it was -15 at

-15 in South Dakota
Philip and -14 at Huron, Minnesota's Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul shivered in readings around 10 below and northward at Duluth, it was colder. Chicago had its coldest day since last February with a low of 6 below. Six inches of snow covered areas in the city and suburbs.

The storm which dumped snow falls ranging from more than a foot to three inches across the Rockies and Midwest areas reached New England during the night. The southern boundary of the snow belt was the Ohio River, southern Pennsylvania and the metropolitan New York area. More than two inches fell early in the night in New England.

Thinks Licensing
decided whether to propose a state ban on licenses for 16-year-olds or a statute that would leave the matter up to local communities.

The state now issues junior licenses to 16 and 17-year-olds. Persons 18 and over are eligible for regular licenses.

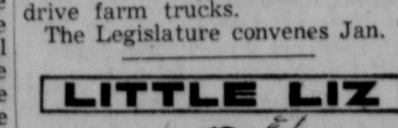

Spino said it was "unnecessary and dangerous" to license the 16-year-olds.

A requirement that all persons driving trucks obtain chauffeur's licenses was contained in a bill enacted in the 1958 session to tighten standards for truck drivers.

The action followed an outbreak of highway fatalities involving tractor-trailer trucks. Many organizations, including major farm groups, protested that the law would impose a hardship on farmers by requiring that they also obtain special permits to drive farm trucks.

The Legislature convenes Jan. 7.

PRICE OF PROGRESS—The terrific speeds and complexities of modern military aircraft are increasingly taxing the ability of man to fly them. Yet frequency of accidents has steadily declined, as Newschart above shows, even during the jet age which began in earnest about 1947. On the other hand, fatalities have increased. Today 23 per cent of all accidents result in a death. The story is the same on the material side. In 1947 less than a third of aircraft involved in major accidents were destroyed. Today it is 55 per cent.

Supreme Court Refuses to Review Reporter's Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday refused to review a New York court's decision that a newspaper reporter may be compelled to divulge the identity of a news source.

The case was that of Marie Torre, a television columnist for the New York Herald Tribune, who was sentenced to 10 days in jail for refusing to disclose the source of a story she wrote about singer Judy Garland. Miss Torre was allowed to remain free pending outcome of her appeal.

The writer had been called as a witness in a pre-trial examination of a $1,393,333 breach of contract and libel suit filed by Miss Garland against the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Miss Torre refused to obey an order by U. S. District Judge Sylvester J. Ryan in New York that she give the name of a CBS executive who allegedly furnished information for an article she wrote Jan. 10, 1957. Judge Ryan expressed sympathy with her, but adjudged the writer in contempt and imposed the jail term.

Ryan's decision was upheld by the U. S. Court of Appeals in New York.

The Supreme Court gave no explanation in announcing it would not review the case. Its refusal was made known in a brief order which said Justice Douglas favored granting a hearing on Miss Torre's appeal.

RECORD STUDENT BODY

Anyone with a taste for eye-opening statistics might play around a bit with this one: More than 1,800,000 full-time students are now enrolled in U. S. institutions of learning. This means that out of every 95 persons in the entire population of the United States, one is a college student.

When part-time students—those taking night, late afternoon and Saturday classes for credit—are included, the total amounts to more than two and a half million. Full-time and part-time college students, in other words, account for one out of every 70 Americans.

These figures come from Dr. Raymond Walters, University of Cincinnati president emeritus, who has just made public the findings of his 39th annual higher education enrollment survey. The number of full-time students has risen by 4.1 per cent over 1957. There is an 8.6 per cent increase in part-time students, and total enrollment on about 1,000 campuses has gone up 5.4 per cent over last year.

These statistics, like any others, can mean various things to various men. But there is no escaping the simple conclusion that talk of a coming strain on the resources of higher education in this country is thoroughly justified.

Those now in college were born at a time when the birth rate was relatively low. As Dr. Walters says, the rise in births since the late '40s "foretells very large increases . . . in applicants for admission to college in the 1960s."

To sum up: the pressure on college facilities is already great, and bound to increase substantially. This is not merely something for college officials to worry about; it is of broad public concern. National progress and prosperity depend in large measure on how well the rising generation is educated.

It is reported that Russia has more astronomers than the United States, but inferior equipment. Well, in Russia you get so you can see stars without equipment.

Vice President Gomez of Argentina quit but didn't impair his dignity. Vice President Nixon is willing to settle for not impairing his presidential chances.

DISCRIMINATION REPORT

Taken at face value, a report to President Eisenhower that complaints of discrimination in industry are on the rise might be disheartening. This report was made by the President's committee on government contracts, which was established in 1953 to end discrimination—whether on grounds of race, national origin, religion or for other reasons—in firms doing work for the government.

When considered as a part of the whole five-year report, the rising number of complaints takes on a different perspective. It appears to indicate a growing awareness of the program, and that is most promising.

On the whole, the committee report is optimistic. The program, it says, is "gaining momentum." The committee found "steady growth" of anti-discrimination activities in 1958, and was hopeful about the future.

These findings are good news for all who believe that the American dream can best be realized in a society which grants all citizens equal opportunity in fact as well as in theory.

A statue of Winston Churchill in a grim, determined mood arouses protest in England. But the English—and all free men—can be glad he was grim and determined.

RELATIVE PROBLEM

Austin J. Tobin, executive director of the Port of New York Authority, predicts that supersonic aircraft capable of crossing the nation in one and a half to two hours will be a reality in 10 years.

But there's always a hitch. In this case it is noise. Something will have to be done, says Tobin, to suppress the window-break-

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
PRESSURES

Newspapermen, great and small, old-timed and novice, all face this one problem: pressure to put things into a newspaper; pressure to keep things out. Most of the time, these pressures may be ignored with impunity. There are occasions when the heavy hand of friendship, or the ugliness of a lawsuit goes to work on a newspaper or a reporter who dislikes to lose a friend or make an enemy.

But this has become an increasingly complex and confused society and one meets all sorts of people who immediately call you friend and discuss the intimacies of their private lives with you. An editor once complained that I go to too many parties and therefore have no time to read early Victorian poets.

Actually, I do not go to enough parties. One should always know how the other half lives. By the other half, I really mean a very small fraction of the American population. These people live in New York, Hollywood, Miami Beach, Palm Beach, Las Vegas. They are few in number, although they make a big noise. They might be called rich, but a bank statement would prove that in another generation the inheritance will be small, indeed. Many of them go in for multiple marriages.

In a manner, these people have an influence on public opinion because they are mobile. Each day is filled with luncheons, cocktail parties, flirtations (often referred to as romances), and elaborate dinners ending in a visit to some night club and to bed when the boredom has run itself out. Conversation is for laughs, just as morals are for those who are too young to know or those who are too old to remember.

Laughter must be spontaneous; otherwise it is only noise. I recently attended a party of this kind, during which from 8 p. m. to 11:30 p. m., I found the conversation was restricted. In fact, only those could converse who sat next to each other. There was no across-the-table talk of any kind and while I was extremely fortunate with a partner, I could not help wondering what might have happened had I been seated elsewhere.

How can one really care whether Mrs. A. is planning her divorce so secretly that everybody knows the details except her husband who is paying for it and hopes to get it in time to give a presumptive heir legitimacy before it is actually born. As a sociological study, such data may be interesting; as an index to the nature of a degenerating society, it might be worth noting with names, addresses and telephone numbers.

Recently I attended such a shindig at which politicians were present and the conversation was of a maturer kind and many of the gentlemen knew with varying degrees of intimacy the emerging great men of the present generation. In Europe or Asia, such a conversation would soon elude the gossip and settle down to a discussion of principles, purposes, alliances, etc. Actually, we never got further than gossip about personalities, as though such trifles really mattered except as indices to the times in which we live.

Newspapermen are all researchers of contemporary times. It is largely from this material that the historians of the distant future will search for an explanation of these times. It is usual to criticize the peep-hole columnists and most of us feel superior to them. But their gossip describes a phase of American life which while not common to large numbers, would have been impossible even half a century ago or even sooner, when moral turpitude was regarded as an offense against society.

Today the most talked about persons in our society are actively and publicly devoted to breaches of social etiquettes and proprieties and not only does no one care but these personalities become the heroes and heroines of the next generation.

A nation can be judged by the heroes of its youth, by the ideals which its young people develop among themselves. It is also to be judged by what use it makes of the rights which tradition bestowed upon us.

What, for instance, is freedom? One turns to the First Amendment to the Constitution. The First and the Fifth Amendments lay down the fundamentals of our way of life. Are we using these fundamentals to build a stronger country or only to get a few benefits for ourselves as individuals?

In these difficult times, when we are always on the verge of a fighting war, a nation devoted to laughs needs to remember the adage: He who laughs last laughs best.

Bronchitis, If Ignored, Can Lead to Serious Illness

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Irritation of the breathing passageways leading to the lower lungs, which are known as bronchi, is common and leads to distressing symptoms. The most frequent is coughing. The disorder is known as bronchitis.

Of course, there are other reasons for coughing besides bronchitis. Anyone who has experienced long-lasting coughing should try to obtain a diagnosis as rapidly as possible.

In general, bronchitis is considered the result of an infection or some irritating agent breathed in with the air.

There are many possibilities. Not long ago, for example, snuff was incriminated and was shown to be the source of responsible germs. In the case reported, when the use of snuff was discontinued the germs disappeared from the sputum coughed up.

Bronchitis is usually classified as acute or chronic. In the former, the disease is likely to start suddenly with symptoms similar to those of an ordinary cold. Heaviness or pains over the chest are likely to be present.

Other symptoms may or may not be noticed, but the most characteristic sign is a cough which comes off and on and causes a good deal of distress. Quite often the acute disease passes in a week or so, but frequently it leads to chronic bronchitis in which the cough simply does not go away.

If the cause can be uncovered and corrected, well and good. This, however, is not always easy, and it is often necessary to use drugs or antibiotics which may relieve the symptoms somewhat.

Also, everyone who has bronchitis—the chronic variety in particular—should be built up to the best possible physical condition.

Change of climate, when it can be arranged, is an important part of treatment for many patients with chronic bronchitis. Often those who cannot seem to get over their chronic cough at home promptly improve when they go to a warm mild or dry climate.

Of course, the result of such change depends to some extent on the cause of the bronchitis and also on how long the bronchitis has been in existence and its severity.

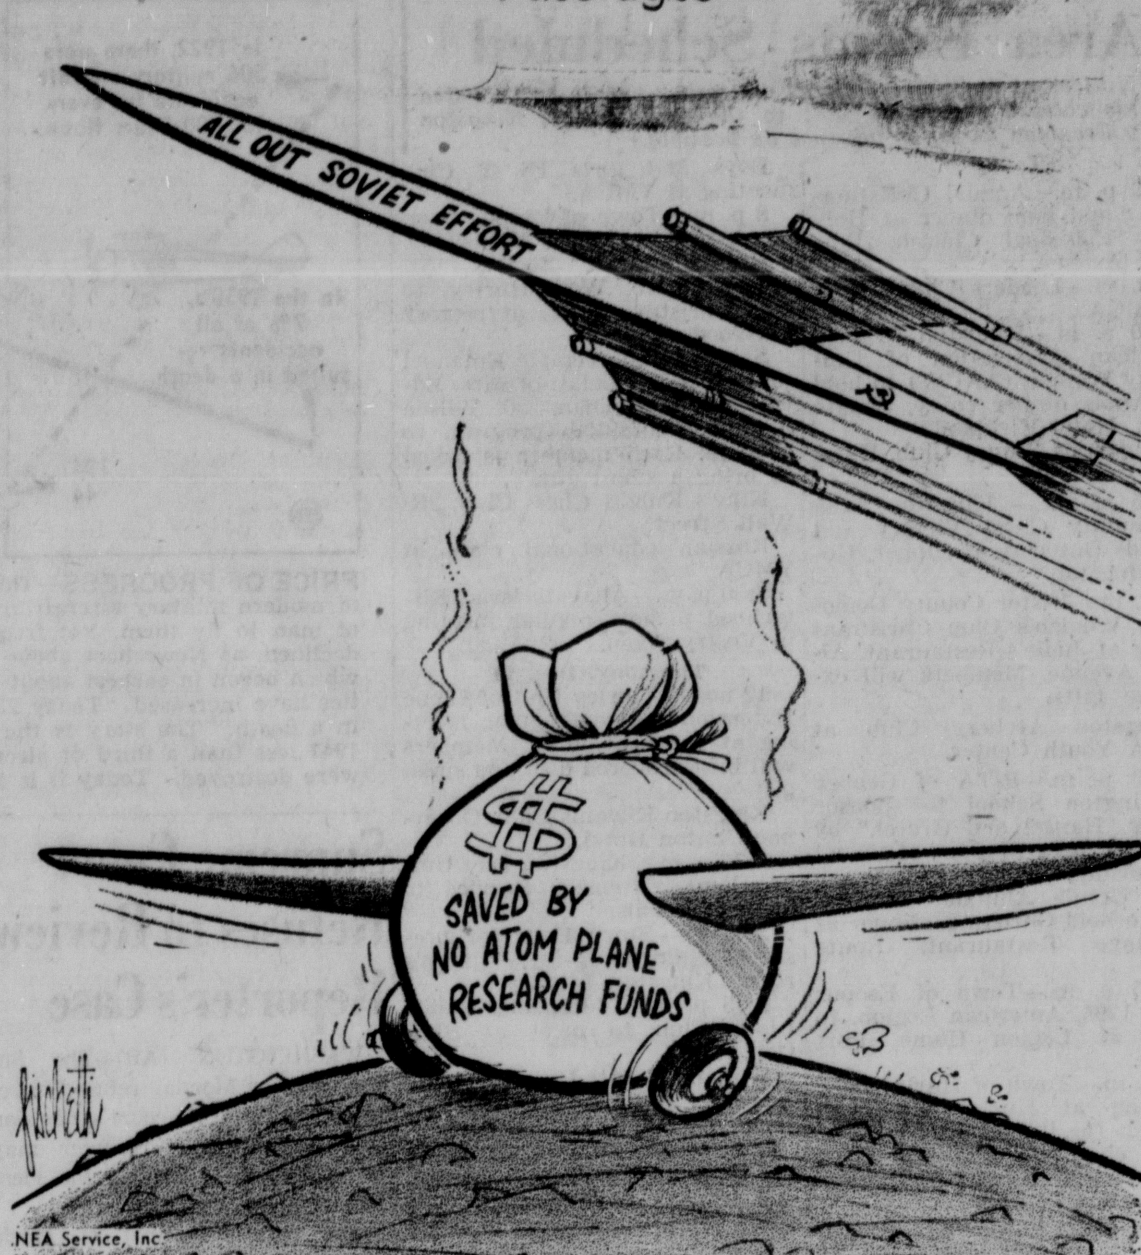

What everyone with a long-lasting cough should remember is that this is not something to laugh off, nor is it likely to be relieved by patent cough remedies.

It should not be ignored lest a chronic state of bronchitis set in or even more serious complications develop.

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Big gambles paid off handsomely when the Atlas intercontinental missile burned through space to its full range target area 6,300 miles away.

The gambles had to do with weight and control, inescapable difficulties in the long range missile field. In the case of the Air Force Atlas, the problems were solved uniquely.

Back in the late 1940s, when the Atlas was first projected by the basic contractor, General Dynamics' Convair Division, the weight hazard for an intercontinental missile with an atomic warhead seemed colossal. The talk was of something around one million pounds, driven by a whole cluster of engines.

ADVANCES INTO thermo-nuclear weapons drastically cut weight and guidance requirements. But the problems still loomed.

With all the weight savings from a switch to hydrogen warheads, the Atlas still was to be a thing of 300,000 components that had to be catapulted 800 miles high and to speeds around 16,000 m.p.h.

Here the first big gamble was taken. The engineers tossed out the idea of a heavy, rigid rocket cylinder to hold the missile's fuel supply. They developed a skin of stainless steel so thin the fuel tanks actually have to be inflated with air before receiving their infusion of fuel.

No one knew for sure how good that gamble was until, in one of the unsuccessful Atlas tests, the missile was subjected to severe stresses and strains. Gyration like a wild cigar, it stood the gauntlet.

A 100-TON AFFAIR like the Atlas first poised like a pencil on end, then moving slowly upward as its engines spew out thrusting gases, is hard to stabilize.

Especially at low altitude, aerodynamic forces lend little help in controlling the rocket. The unique solution devised by Convair was the "swivel engine." The Atlas' huge engines can swing back and forth and from side to side as the missile rises, imparting the twist and turn needed to keep it on steady course.

This was the second gamble. Together these two plunges helped Atlas toward the successful firing over the full intercontinental range.

To get to the present point of progress, Atlas ran through 15 tests, nine of them successful. Though admittedly they had no background of rocket experience to draw upon, the Germans nevertheless needed 3,000 test firings for the famous V-2.

FOUR YEARS have elapsed since work on the current version of the Atlas was undertaken. Many more tests and a wide assortment of lesser problems still lie ahead.

But when Atlas went the full range limit, it put the United States into the ICBM business with the Russians. No expert thinks this means we've caught up. The view tends to be simply that we are now really moving to catch up.

We're not ready to match the powerful thrust of Soviet rocket engines (with twice the propulsive force of ours) which shot a 3,000-pound Sputnik into space. But the triumph of the Atlas makes some U. S. missile men feel that, even without that great thrust, soon we may be able to equal the Soviet feat.

Today in National Affairs

President's Next 2 Years: He Must Diagnose and Act

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The next two years for Ike — what will they be like? What ought he to do and what will he do?

This is the subject uppermost in the minds of many people here. It is important to the Republican party, to the country as a whole, and to the world.

President Eisenhower is the last person any one would call a politician, and it has often been said that he has no taste for politics. Both statements can be right, and yet it is conceivable that in his way Mr. Eisenhower could achieve real success on the political front.

For, while the word "politics" connotes a game or a contest between parties and persons in governmental life, it has a broader meaning — the capacity to understand the mood of the people.

The key to leadership in the next two years, therefore, is in how to deal with the mood of the people.

Determining the Mood

Obviously, the first step is to make sure just what the national mood really happens to be. Today the national mood is a composite of a lot of local and individual moods.

But there is a common denominator through all of them. There are gripes galore. There are the irritations and annoyances of the economic world and many worries over the fact that the Communists do not seem to want to let things alone. There are grievances about the high taxes and inequitable taxes. There are fears about the steady decline in the purchasing power of the dollar — otherwise called inflation. There is unrest as between management and labor and a belief that organized labor will abuse its collective bargaining power and extort higher and higher wages. This means higher and higher prices and a squeeze particularly on the people with fixed incomes.

Cure for Discontent

How then to cure the discontent — For discontent produced the negative reaction that instigated the Democratic party's landslide in the recent elections. The first and foremost problem in national and international affairs is to fix responsibility. In the recent elections the electorate didn't stop to ask who was in command in both Houses of Congress during the last two years — the blame for everything was placed on the Republicans. This was due to the tactics of the Democrats who assumed no responsibility themselves but constantly fostered the illusion that the President controls the budget, that the President writes the appropriation laws, that the President can increase or decrease spending, that the President can control wages and prices, and that the President can wave a wand and bring prosperity or, by making a mistake, drive the country into a recession.

Truman Pounded Away

There is no such thing as responsible government here in the parliamentary sense. Mr. Truman had no qualms about fixing responsibility on the Republican Congress which he had on his hands from 1946 to 1948, and he won the Presidential election. In season and out he hammered away at his political opponents and continually characterized the 80th Congress as a "do nothing" Congress.

The last Congress was one of the worst in American history if the criterion is the protection of the national interest against tyranny and autocracy in the courts, and if it be assumed that the preservation of the right of local self-government is any longer important to the people of America. The Congress moreover, encouraged policies of extravagance in the handling of public funds and turned away from constructive measures looking toward ways of using the tax system as an incentive to business expansion.

Up to Eisenhower

Meddling by Congress in the conduct of foreign policy was constant so that the world isn't sure today whether partisans on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee or the officials of the Department of State speak for this nation to other nations.

Actually, Mr. Eisenhower can wield more power with the people now than ever before. If he diagnoses the national mood correctly and keeps up a persistent campaign for measures and policies that he believes are right.

Contentment for the electorate will not come in two years, but responsibility for the discontent can be marked out clearly so that in the elections of 1960 and 1962 and 1964 the people may know that, when they vote Democratic or Republican, they are choosing certain policies and certain individuals to carry them out.

Should Spell Out Facts

If the electorate isn't afraid of a deep recession and a runaway inflation and doesn't care what happens to the dollar, surely one political party ought through its leadership, to spell out the facts in unmistakable terms so that, if the debacle does come, the nation can return to the party that continuously preached sound economics. For basically it's the pocketbook issues that win or lose elections. If Mr. Eisenhower is well advised, he will make an aggressive fight in the next two years to keep the politicians in Congress — who hold the purse strings—from robbing the people of their savings. There is no more important issue.

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

'Our Son Simply Couldn't Do Something Like That'

The staid little eastern seaboard town, my newspaper said, had been aroused by outbreaks of teen-age drunkenness, "sex parties" and hooliganism. It told its police to get the situation under control.

Late one night a police officer spotted a loitering youth who should have been home in bed. Saying so, he got a "lot of lip." So he bundled the boy into the patrol car and drove him home.

When he got there, the boy's mother was outraged. She said, "My son doesn't do wrong things. You had no right to bother him."

What she meant was "You had no right to bother me."

Boil down all the learned studies on juvenile delinquency by psychologists, social workers, probation officers and sociologists — and they all add up in the end to parents who say, "You have no right to bother me."

If, like the young loiterer's mother, we reject all indignantly, we need to know that we are claiming absolute self-righteousness.

Johnny has not ridden his bike over the neighbor's lawn because our perfect training has rid him of all carelessness. Nancy couldn't possibly have been seen at that road-house because our example of respectability has been flawless.

Janey couldn't girl dirty names because our lessons in "nice talk" have been so well taught.

Parents' unconscious need to present an appearance of virtue to themselves is what forces them to close their eyes to children's faults — and makes all correction of them impossible.

A prison chaplain once said to me, "Usually a criminal's mother says only one thing to me. She says, 'Why is Billy here?' It was always a good boy. Yet on my desk is the record which demonstrates that Billy has been a bad boy for a long, long time."

This blindness is considered the beauty of maternal love.

It isn't beautiful and it isn't love. It just says, "My child is perfect because I'm so perfect."

And I wish that cheap poets and songwriters would stop sentimentalizing such arrogant nonsense.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—A warning against letting the crush of rosy predictions for 1959 lead you into trouble is sound today. It comes from those who hold that the danger signs are there even though they, too, believe the general outlook is bright.

For the individual business the danger lies mostly in how its top men react to the predictions—whether they base their plans on their hopes rather than on their reasoned expectations.

The Research Institute of America lists some of the dangers it sees gathering force. It says it gets much of its data from confidential reports of 30,000 firms it serves, as well as from official statistics and indicators.

The institute says its general prediction for 1959 is definitely on the bright side, but here are the dangers that could cause trouble before the middle of next year:

1. In many of its reporting companies production has jumped faster than demand. This is natural since in the early months of the slump output was cut back more steeply than sales fell. The danger: Unless demand rises more than is now indicated, many industries could find themselves with unsold stocks building up again. Result: Another slowdown in production—another slump.

2. In some companies inventory rebuilding plans have gone beyond current sales. Danger: If sales expectations don't pan out, orders to suppliers could be cut below levels justified by actual sales at the time.

3. Believe that a general price increase is just around the corner is leading some businessmen to over-ordering. Danger: When the price rises are delayed, future orders will be deflated sharply—another slump.

4. Retail sales figures just now are misleading because they were dropping a year ago. Favorable comparisons don't prove a new boom is here.

5. Basic economic indicators are behaving erratically now. And the interruption of a clear direction should lead business executives to use caution in setting future policy.

What seems to worry the institute most is: "What businessmen are experiencing today is an early stage of a prolonged recovery from a greatly reduced level of activity. And it is occurring in an atmosphere less favorable to a new wave of prosperity than late 1954 or late 1949." So the pattern of this recovery is different from the earlier ones.

The announcement said all outstanding shares of Olean Tile would be exchanged for shares of National Gypsum. The number of shares was not disclosed.

Central Would Cut 10 Trains Between Buffalo and Falls

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The New York Central Railroad sought permission Monday to abandon passenger service between Buffalo and Niagara Falls because of declining patronage.

In a petition filed with the Public Service Commission, the railroad asked authorization to drop the ten trains it operates between the two cities.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad, which also served Niagara Falls, announced earlier this month it would seek to drop all of its passenger service.

With no service from these two lines the famous tourist city would be without any regular railroad passenger cars.

The central complained it had lost $111,247 on the trains last year and $74,071 in the first six months of this year.

The Central also reported it had lost $3,768,954 on system-wide operations in the first 10 months of 1958, compared with a $10,112,846 profit during the corresponding period in 1957.

"In effect," the petition said, "the public generally has deserted rail passenger service, not only in the area involved but over the petitioner's entire railroad system, in favor of the private automobile and, in addition, modes of public transportation other than rail transportation."

The railroad contended that Niagara Falls was adequately served by buses, airlines and passenger cars. It argued that continued operation of the Niagara Falls trains would be "wholly unprofitable" and unwarranted by public convenience and necessity.

The PSC could grant the railroad's request outright. However, it is customary to call a public hearing on such petitions. The railroad did not specify a date for dropping the service.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Peter Lind Hayes has come up with a pleasant daytime show on ABC-TV this season, and as far as he's concerned he wants to stay right there in the daylight.

Discussing an offer the other day to go into nighttime television, which usually is thought of as synonymous with bigtime television, Hayes said:

Prefers Daylight TV

"I'll take the daylight. Night time television is a pressure-cooker existence. You're lucky if one show in four is good. And it seems to be just about everyone's luck that the critics miss the good show and catch the three that aren't quite as good."

"All you have to do on daytime television is behave. If you're a pleasant personality, work at being kind, and don't act like a wisecracker, you get along fine on the daytime schedule. It helps if you talk slowly and sweetly and try to look as much like Nelson Eddy as possible. There are no tremendous highs or lows in daytime television."

Hayes insists that he can be every bit as sophisticated on his show (Monday through Friday, 11:30-12:30, EST) as in the hours after sunset.

17 Hours on Job

"I have a limitless opportunity to present new talent," he said. "No message has been or ever will be involved in the program except a message of love—a love of talent if nothing else."

Currently he is putting in 17 hours a day on his job—which, he admits, is too much. "But I have the energy for it, at least now, and I hope in time to cut down."

Prayer Book 500 Years Old Sold For $89,000 Dec. 8

LONDON (AP)—A 500-year-old Flemish prayer book, found in an old basket by a London auctioneer, was sold Monday for $89,000.

The manuscript, a 15th Century Book of Hours, was written on 163 leaves of vellum and richly illuminated in gold. Decoration on the calf binding included the name of the medieval binder, Livinus Stuart.

An expert from Christie's, London's noted antique auctioneers, discovered the book by chance in a basket of silverware at the Monmouth home of the late Baron Llangatock. Three London booksellers were the purchasers.

Three "firsts" are the boast of Beverly, Mass.: first cotton mill, first Sunday School and first secretary of the Navy.

Hearing on Indian Land Dispute Is In Closing Stage

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal Power Commission hearing on a land dispute between the New York State Power Authority and the Tuscarora Indians readies its closing stage today.

Henry S. Manley of Strikersville, N. Y., resumes the stand for cross-examination by Arthur Lazarus Jr., Washington attorney for the Indians.

The authority said it had no additional witnesses in its case to prove the Tuscaroras will not be hurt if they lose 1,383 acres of their reservation near Niagara Falls. The authority wants the land as part of a reservoir site for the Niagara power project.

The Indians have fought the taking of the land on grounds they have treaty rights to all of the 6,000-acre reservation. The authority's attorneys argued Monday that the Tuscarora land actually is private property and not a reservation in the true sense.

Documents Introduced

Samuel I. Rosenman, special counsel for the authority, introduced historical documents he said were proof the Tuscaroras obtained their land through gifts from the Seneca Indians and the Holland Land Co., plus tracts purchased from the land company.

Manley was called to testify as an expert on New York Indian affairs. Lazarus argued Manley was not qualified because he had no formal education in history, ethnology or Indian affairs. Lazarus was overruled by FPC Examiner Harry W. Frazee.

Manley retired from the New York State attorney general's office in 1955. He testified that since 1925 he has handled litigation involving New York Indians and that he is author of a book and several articles on Indian affairs. Frazee is not expected to make a ruling in the case. His function will be to turn over testimony to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which ordered the hearing.

The court wants to know if taking of the Indian land by the authority will intervene in the original purposes of the reservation.

A personal message from Ulster County's Fuel Oil Dealers*!

Fortunate indeed is the community where suppliers are uniformly sensitive to the needs of their customers and are dedicated to complete fulfillment of those needs. Kingston area fuel dealers are pledged to just one objective — that each householder shall be dependably and safely warm at the least possible cost. From time to time, these dealers will bring you valuable information about the one fuel that meets all those qualifications, Oil Heat!

One thought they'd like to leave with you has to do with selecting a home heating fuel, occasionally made in haste. It's essential to consider this decision most carefully.

Firstly, plan to provide your family with a home that's comfortably heated with a safe, dependable fuel. Next, compare the features of various fuels and analyze the per unit cost of one fuel against another. Then project the comparisons over the life of your home. If you follow this sensible approach, we sincerely believe you'll arrive at only one answer—only one fuel—OIL HEAT.

For so many reasons, you're better off with OIL HEAT.

Support Is Seen For Farm Policy

Asst. Secretary of Agriculture Marvin L. McLain, here to speak before convention meetings, said he found virtually no opposition to a gradual withdrawal of government controls.

No Opposition
The Farm Bureau itself had advocated such policies, but recent Republican election setbacks in some farming areas had stirred speculation that farmers wanted more rather than less government aid.

At an open hearing held by the convention's Resolutions Committee, not a single voice was raised against this "less government in agriculture" theme.

Federation President Charles B. Shuman called—in a message to the convention—for legislation to curb portions of what he called the nation's "unscrupulous" Socialist-labor political machine.

He said that unless this is done, the country would sink "into the morass of dead and dying economies that are so common in Western Europe." He said labor leaders are taking advantage of the situation to set up labor monopolies that would destroy the national economy.

Three-Point Program
Shuman outlined what he termed a simple three-point program to return farming to a prosperous base. It was: (1) discontinuing all production controls, (2) lower price supports to a percentage of the previous three-year market price, and (3) freeze existing surpluses so that they cannot compete with new crops in domestic and foreign markets.

Shuman said the surpluses should be used only to help needy areas abroad not able to buy.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Gas pipeline issues, drugs and selected stocks made good gains as the stock market staged a moderate early this afternoon.

Pivotal stocks were up fractions to about a point. Special issues ran up gains stretching to 3 or 4 points. A scattering of losers peppered the list. The Big Three motors were easy with Ford off a fraction.

The natural gas and pipeline stocks were still celebrating the U. S. Supreme Court ruling which reversed a lower court in the Memphis gas case. The high court ruling permits gas suppliers to raise prices, pending investigation and possible refund, without awaiting approval of the Federal Power Commission.

El Paso Natural Gas and Tennessee Gas Transmission added more than a point to substantial gains of Monday. Southern Natural Gas rose a fraction. Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line erased an early gain and showed a slight fractional loss.

The opening of Pfizer was delayed 45 minutes in a buying rush inspired, Wall Streeters said, by renewed enthusiasm for the company's earnings, new products and proposed stock split. The price rose ¼ to 110, later shading the gain by about a point.

Polaroid rose about 4 and Zenith, also delayed in opening, about 3. Lionel dropped about 2 on a dividend omission. Parke, Davis, which has been strong lately, dropped more than a point in profit taking.

Avco, up about a point, and Dico Wayne, ahead more than that, were among trading favorites. American Telephone spurred 2. Gulf Oil and Youngstown Sheet made similar gains.

U. S. government bonds drifted lower.

Educators Told

opportunities we have in the field of education, Dr. Flemming stated.

He described briefly the National Defense Education Act, calling attention to its objectives and potentialities.

The act provides grants to state educational agencies and institutions of higher learning for the purpose of strengthening the quality of instruction, particularly in the fields of mathematics and modern languages.

It provides also for aid to state departments of education to reinforce their supervision in those fields, offers assistance to make possible more extensive testing and guidance counseling, provides funds for teacher training institutes and vocational education and for improved statistical services at the local level.

Explains Loans

The act offers loans to students on both graduate and undergraduate levels. An undergraduate may borrow $1,000 a year up to $5,000 and can pay it back over a 10-year period at three per cent interest. If he enters the teaching profession he will be "forgiven" 10 per cent of his indebtedness for each teaching year — up to 50 per cent of the loan.

Dr. Flemming said his colleagues in the field of education assured him that the federal grants would be in demand from students.

The act also provides, among other things, for the utilization of television, radio, motion pictures and related media of communications in the field of education.

Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, a member of the Kingston Board of Education, who was instrumental in bringing Dr. Flemming to New Paltz introduced the speaker.

Inspired by Father

She pointed out that he is a "product" of local schools and has "warm feeling" toward Kingston and Ulster County. She referred to his "intellectual clarity" and forceful manner of speaking, describing him as journalist, lawyer, educator and government expert, a married man, father of five children and grandfather of two.

She pointed out that Dr. Flemming came by his interest in education quite naturally, explaining that his father, once an Ulster County Surrogate judge, had served on the Kingston Board of Education for 20 years, 14 as its president.

She said Judge Flemming had left quite a bit of educational heritage for "board members like me."

Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of New Paltz State Teachers College, welcomed Dr. Flemming and members of the council.

Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of Kingston public schools and president of the Mid-Hudson School Study Council, presided and introduced prominent educators and officials of the area.

A large contingent of Kingston people, including a large part of the Kingston Board of Education, was present.

School board members, school administrators and teachers from the public schools of Dutchess, Putnam, Orange and Ulster counties and other nearby areas were in attendance.

Record Stands Out

Dr. Flemming, who was appointed to the President's Cabinet last May, has been characterized by Time magazine as "Bringing to Washington one of the U. S.'s longest and best records as a government administrator and personnel expert."

Prior to his appointment to the Cabinet he was president of Ohio Wesleyan University. He has been in and out of government service since he was appointed in 1939 by President

Adams to Get $100,000 For Book, Paper Says

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—The Boston Globe said today Sherman Adams, former assistant to President Eisenhower, will get $100,000 for a book on the Eisenhower administration.

The Globe article said of Adams: "He will sign in the next few days a contract with Harper Brothers and Life magazine at a figure of around $100,000, according to New York publishing circles."

Adams declined comment. The newspaper said Adams has been working on his book almost constantly since he quit his White House job after charges of using influence for his friend, Bernard Goldfine, gift-giving Boston industrialist. Adams denied any attempt to influence federal agencies with which Goldfine had dealings.

Served as Bodyguard

Four orders of Lenin rank Serov with the other top decorated officials.

Serov served as chief bodyguard for Khrushchev and then Premier Nikolai Bulganin on their trips. He preceded them to Britain to make security arrangements for their 1956 visit.

British newspapers greeted Serov in 1956 with such names as "butcher," "murderer," "odious thug" and "jackal." The attacks were based primarily on Serov's role in purging anti-Communists from areas newly acquired by the Soviet Union during World War II.

Serov reportedly was sent to Budapest in 1956 to show Hungarian Communists how to suppress the uprising against Soviet rule.

Serov became an important element in Khrushchev's power structure. One source has said Serov helped rally Khrushchev's forces in June 1957 to defeat the revolt against the party boss by former Premier Georgi Malenkov, former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Bulganin and others.

times. A guided missile, it differs from ballistic missiles in that it can be directed in flight. Ballistic missiles, like artillery shells, are largely beyond outside control once they are fired.

The Regulus II has a shorter range than the big intercontinental ballistic missiles—1,000 miles compared with their 6,000 miles—but nuclear submarines can take it secretly almost to the shores of an enemy nation.

Franklin D. Roosevelt to be a member of the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

During and after World War 2 he had posts in the office of the War Manpower Commission, Labor Department, the Atomic Energy Commission and the Hoover Commission. In 1948 he left the government service to become president of Ohio Wesleyan then returned to Washington as Defense Mobilization Director during the Korean Conflict.

Purpose of Council
The Mid-Hudson School Study Council, with headquarters at the State University Teachers College at New Paltz, is an association of public schools of the Mid-Hudson area. Its purpose is to provide research information and in-service training for board members, school administrators and teachers.

Edwin Hunger, superintendent of Poughkeepsie Schools, is vice president, and Dr. William J. Hageny, professor of education at New Paltz, is its executive secretary.

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

DECISIVE DAYS

The stock market is high. It has thousands of investors and speculators stymied. To sell or not to sell, that is the question. This universal indecision is one of the principal reasons why price prognostication is so difficult.

But it is no time to be indecisive. No investor or speculator should today be in no man's land. He should know where he is going and why. Taking profits for many should involve no deep thought. Will capital gains pay off debts? Will they establish sound, long-term contracts? Will they build future financial competence? If so, cash in some profits.

Each investor must be on his own. But firm decisions based on individual needs should be made. There is deep satisfaction in thinking through a logical program and putting it into effect.

Bill Dinneen, retired foreign correspondent, has just made his decision. In 1941, at Pearl Harbor time, after 25 years of reporting in the danger spots of the world, he got his life savings together. He had $15,000. He split his fund in five parts and bought sound common stocks.

Every year since 1951, he has been tempted to sell out. But when the time came to make a positive decision, he has backed away. In December, 1957, when an inventory of his expanded portfolio showed him worth $75,000 — up 500 per cent in 16 years — two of his good stocks voted substantial extra dividends, and he procrastinated a gain.

But in December 1958, with his wealth totaling $100,000, nothing, nothing is going to hold back his selling. In a single year his 50 shares of Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea have gone from $190 a share to $490 and with profits of $340 a share, he is going to cash in gains in one spot of $17,000!

Bill is 73 years old. He is in prime health. He likes the country. If, 25 years ago, anybody had told him that in 1958 his wealth would total $100,000, he would have been entirely incredulous. But there it is.

His capital gains are about $35,000. His taxes to Uncle Sam will total about $21,000. After these are paid, his capital funds will be around $79,000.

Many people ask him: "Isn't this a bad time to sell a good portfolio of sound stocks, pay large capital gains taxes and reinvest the money in other securities?"

Bill doesn't think so. More power to him in making a decision and in becoming resolved to put his plan into action.

He thinks that prices, costs, and wages are too high for an enduring prosperity. He doesn't like the fiscal management in Washington.

Well, what is he going to do with his $79,000? He will deposit $5,000 as a cash reserve in a savings bank paying 3½ per cent a year. With the rest of the money he is going to buy (what, in these inflationary times?) a portfolio of high grade government and industrial bonds selling to yield around 4 per cent.

On this list are such corporate obligations as those of U. S. Steel, Union Pacific, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Philadelphia Electric, Texas Corporation, American Telephone and Telegraph, General Motors Acceptance Corporation. He will buy at least $5,000 face value of each of such high grade bonds. With the rest of his money, he will purchase a list of U. S. Government 2½s selling at large discounts.

I would commend to many readers of these lines Bill Dinneen's positive decision. Today, a stockholder with large profits sitting on a fence may easily be blown off. Make a decision before that happens.

Ave Would Allow Anti-Bias Group Begin Complaints

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Averell Harriman has called for legislation allowing the State Commission Against Discrimination to initiate complaints.

At a SCAD reception Monday, the outgoing Democratic governor said anti-discrimination commissions in eight states have this right.

In New York, complaints must come from private citizens before the agency investigates.

Harriman also asked the State Legislature to "expand to the entire state the city legislation outlawing discrimination in multiple dwellings."

Elmer A. Carter, a Republican member of SCAD just reappointed by Harriman, was honored at the reception.

Carter, a Negro, is former editor of an Urban League magazine, and was appointed to the commission when it was established in July, 1945, by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, a Republican.

Two Ships Delay Seaway Closing

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP) — One ship aground and another frozen in ice today delayed the closing of the navigation season on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Edward Barlow, chief lock tender at U. S. installations near here, said every effort would be made to keep the locks open until the two ships had cleared.

The locks were scheduled to close at midnight last night but were kept open because of the two ships still due.

Barlow said a constant surge of water was being maintained in the Eisenhower and Snell locks to prevent a freeze.

The ship Grain Miller was aground at Iroquois, near Ogdensburg, west of here. The Paul Manion, a Canadian vessel bound for the Great Lakes, was frozen in ice in the Soulanges Canal.

Ice damage to gates of the Lachine Canal at Montreal lessened chances that 33 freighters seeking to clear the canals would do so before ice trapped them.

The navigation season on the St. Lawrence has been extended twice because of delays caused by ice.

The seaway originally was scheduled to close for the season Saturday night but the deadline was extended to midnight last night. Several ships had cleared in the extension period. Three went through Monday.

Seaway dredges and other equipment will be brought through the locks after the two remaining vessels go through.

Barlow has said the locks will be closed regardless of shipping if it appeared they were in danger of serious damage from ice.

The two locks are on the American side of the seaway.

In Non-Member Roles

Rayburn, Johnson Key Men For Party Advisory Body

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The biggest weakness in what the Democratic Advisory Council recommends is that the two most powerful Democrats in Congress — Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson — are not members of the council.

The council includes some of the very top Democrats — like former President Harry S. Truman, Adlai Stevenson, New York Gov. Averell Harriman — but when it was created two years ago Rayburn and Johnson, both of Texas, refused to join.

Not Committed Now

If they had accepted membership, they would have committed themselves to follow through on what the council recommended. By standing aloof they can pretty well pick and choose what they want to push or fight for.

Since the Democrats lost the presidential election in 1956, the party was left without any real, single head for the next four years. The council attempts to assert some leadership.

Thus the program it outlined Sunday for Democrats in Congress to follow in 1959 was a statement of goals, hopes and intentions. It's been called the Democrats' "State of the Union message."

Next month, as usual at the beginning of each session of Congress, President Eisenhower will present his own State of the Union message, outlining his programs and ideas for 1959.

Both houses of Congress will listen attentively and then suit themselves about what they will accept, reject, modify or expand from all the proposals Eisenhower makes.

Jealous of Rights

The same will be true of the congressional attitude towards the ideas.

Members of Congress, and this certainly goes for their leaders, are very jealous of the rights, privileges and prerogatives of the legislative branch of the government.

They reserve to themselves the right to make the final decisions on any proposals from the executive branch, headed by Eisenhower, or from any outsider or group of outsiders, like the Democratic Advisory Council.

Rayburn, boss of the House Democrats, and Johnson, leader of the Democrats in the Senate, are both conservative. The recommendations were both more liberal and more far-ranging than anything being talked about by Rayburn and Johnson.

For example: The council suggested making the law tougher to give the government a stronger hand in protecting civil rights; it suggested the Senate soften its rules to make it easier to smash filibusters.

Again and again the Southern Democrats have used the filibuster — which, under present Senate rules, gives them the right to almost unlimited debate — to block civil rights legislation.

But the fact remains the new Congress, where the Democrats have an overwhelming majority, will have to look to Rayburn and Johnson for leadership.

Both men in the past have shown an amazing ability to get from their fellow Democrats and even from many Republicans co-operation and approval on the various pieces of legislation they wanted to see get through.

For both men next year the job of shepherding the legislation they want may be tougher, if only because there will be more Democrats in Congress.

Nevertheless, Rayburn and Johnson will be key men. Therefore in large measure the program produced by the Democratic Advisory Council will depend on Rayburn and Johnson.

Dies of Injuries

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Wayne H. Zarpentine, 30, died Monday night of injuries received Thanksgiving morning when his automobile went out of control on a curve near Scottsville.

He was co-owner of the Springbrook Inn in Caledonia, Livingston County. Police said his car hit a utility pole and a tree and then overturned.

Footprints in Snow Help Solve Burglaries

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — Footprints in the snow led a patrolman from a break-in to a boy's home and helped solve three burglaries, police said Monday.

Patrolman Jack Wilson followed the footprints from a garage to a home a few blocks away. A 15-year-old boy at the home admitted three break-ins over the weekend.

and implicated another boy, 14. The police said office supplies taken from two business places and found at the 15-year-old boy's home were returned. Nothing was missing from the garage.

The boys were released in custody of their parents for an appearance in Children's Court.

Ministers in Congress

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—The Rev. Walter L. Moeller of Lancaster is the third Lutheran minister to be elected to the U. S. House of Representatives. He was elected last Nov. 4. The others were the Rev. Frederick A. Muhlenberg of Pennsylvania, who served from 1789 to 1797, and the Rev. O. J. Kvale of Minnesota, who was a congressman from 1922 to 1929.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The writer is no longer low man on the Hollywood totem pole.

"In the old days a writer was kind of like a guy in uniform before Pearl Harbor," said Daniel Taradash. "He was afraid to go into the best hotels."

"But now he is a person of importance in the industry. Everybody at the moment is paying him lip service. Production heads are getting the idea that writers can do more than just sit at a typewriter. Their advice is sought. They are now allowed—even welcomed—on the set."

Paid High Salary

Taradash, who now also directs and produces films, is currently one of the highest paid writers in the field.

The film writing minimums is now $350 a week. But Taradash's typewriter is now so highly regarded that he can demand and get a "big chunk more than $100,000" for writing a picture, plus a share of the profits.

Taradash, a Harvard law graduate, rang the bell in 1938 in his first assignment in Hollywood as co-author of the script for "Golden Boy."

Dan, a pleasant-faced man of 45 with thinning hair, made movie history when he insisted on getting a percentage of the profits for adapting "From Here to Eternity," a script that won him an Oscar.

A slow and painstaking craftsman, Taradash has turned out only about a dozen movies in 20 years. He takes from six months to a year to finish a script.

"During the percolating period I may sit for two or three weeks and not write a line," he said. "In the old Hollywood days that would have been unthinkable."

"A writer then was supposed to write—not think."

"I also have another unusual clause in my contract—that they can't see the script at all until I complete it, unless I choose to let them," he said.

"You can get murdered if you let a producer have a third of the script, while you're still working on the rest. He can start picking it to pieces. Writers can easily be confused, bulldozed and talked out of an idea."

Taradash doesn't share the idea that Hollywood stifles creative talent, and that a man is only as good as his last picture.

"It's an optimistic place," he said. "They like success and like to remember it. Your flops and the stumbling blocks of your career they tend to overlook and forget."

"That attitude is one of the pleasantest things about Hollywood."

Radio Engineers To Hold Seminar Wednesday 8 P.M.

The Kingston Group of the Institute of Radio Engineers will present three lecturers discussing "Micromodulation." The monthly meeting will be held 8 p. m., Wednesday in the IBM plant, Kingston.

The topic of "Micromodulation" will be presented by James Gilmore, supervising engineer, Industry Support Activity, Micromodule Program, RCA, Vincent Kublin and Irving Ross, both associated with the Army Micromodule Program, U. S. Army Signal Research and Development Laboratories, Fort Monmouth, N. J. Gilmore will open the session with a discussion of his paper titled, "The Army Micromodule Design Concept." His paper describes the basic micromodule design concept with emphasis on an order of magnitude improvement in size, weight, reliability, and maintainability of military electronic equipment.

The second speaker, Kublin, will discuss his paper titled, "Progress in the Army Micromodule Program." Kublin describes Signal Corps progress toward miniature electronic equipment with emphasis on the use of printed circuits and transistors. In addition, environmental and reliability problems associated with micromodule components in ground, airborne, and satellite will be discussed.

Ross will speak on "The Role of Semiconductors in the Army Micromodule Program," a detailed discussion of the technical requirements of semiconductors in the micromodule program. Five major groups of transistors and six major groups of diodes and rectifiers have been established to characterize electrical requirements.

Following the presentation of the three papers, questions from the audience will be answered.

Albany Medical College Offers Pediatric Class

ALBANY — Albany Medical College will hold its annual Pediatric Teaching Day Thursday, Dr. Harold C. Wiggers, dean of the college, has announced.

Pediatric Teaching Day, one of a series of educational programs offered by the college every year, will begin at 10:30 a. m., in Huyek auditorium. It is open to all physicians of the area and is co-sponsored by the college's division of postgraduate education and the New York State Department of Health.

Among the topics to be covered at the session are: problems in the newborn infant; abdominal pain in infancy and childhood; diagnosis of congenital heart disease, film and demonstrations, and clinical and laboratory aspects of staphylococcal infections. Chairman of the day-long program will be Dr. Paul R. Patterson, professor of pediatrics and chairman of the department. Additional information about the course can be obtained from Dr. Frank M. Woolsey Jr., associate dean and director of postgraduate medical education.

Villa to Music

NEW YORK (AP)—The picturesque career of Pancho Villa is being set to music for Broadway. Producer Paul Gregory plans to do a tune saga of the memorable Mexican under the title "Viva!" It is to be based on the motion picture "Viva Villa!" by Ben Hecht. Anthony Quayle, British star, is Gregory's choice for the title assignment. The score is being done by Harold Karr and Matt Dubey, collaborators on the previous musical, "Happy Hunting."

Volunteers Help Send Out TB Seal Return Reminders

A room full of volunteers were observed this week at the quarters of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John Street. Their job was to help prepare friendly reminders for mailing, to folks who have not yet responded to the 1958 Christmas seal sale.

They are but a few the hundreds of men and women who are helping the TB Association with its tuberculosis campaign, which opened November 14 and will continue until January 1.

Response Gratifying

County chairman Robert S. Russell said that response to the campaign is most gratifying. A large percentage of Ulster County residents have already sent in their contributions, many of whom have increased their donations. He said, "We are most grateful to those who have answered our appeal letter and know the little reminders will be just enough to 'joggle' the memories of those who want to participate in this health program."

Russell said it is stimulating as well as inspiring to hear the comments of folks who come to the office to pay for their Christmas seals or who many times write a little note explaining their problems but yet sacrificing to help others, through the health program which in many instances has benefited the contributor or his family.

In Ulster County Christmas seals contributions are used for health education, promotion and demonstration, in an effort to conquer tuberculosis and build health. Projects include education of community chest X-rays for case finding of tuberculosis, certain heart conditions, growths and other chest conditions, to bring current information to the medical profession, hospitals and nursing groups, as well as to schools and the general public, he said.

A rehabilitation program is carried on at the TB Hospital which includes an occupational therapist to help the patients help themselves back to health. The rehabilitation committee also works at the Ulster County Infirmary, helping to bring cheer and comfort to the patients who

Through the programs of the National and the State TB Associations, the local association also contributes to the many important medical research projects now being carried on by scientists who are helping to find better methods to increase resistance to TB infection, and to find other ways of eradicating tuberculosis and other chest diseases. The chairman said, "We as citizens, by devoting ourselves during the next few weeks to using every opportunity to follow up and promote our Christmas seals efforts toward an expanded program, will make the 1958 seal sale the most successful in our history."

BRIDGE

Hand Elegant, So Is Finish

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Here is a rubber bridge hand played by Henry Auslander. Henry's four-spade opening bid was somewhat of a gamble, but he held 150 honors as partial compensation if doubled and set.

West did double and opened the king of hearts. He should have continued with the ace of hearts and ace of clubs. East would have signaled with the nine and a second club lead would have set Henry, but West chose to shift to a trump at trick two.

This gave Henry a chance to make the hand and he took full advantage of it. He started by running six trumps. West had to make four discards and he began to run out of cards almost immediately. His first two discards were diamonds; his third the ten of clubs; and fourth the ten of hearts.

At this point, Henry could have taken the diamond finesse; discarded one club on the diamond ace; and ducked a heart to West's ace, but he wanted a more elegant finish.

Henry played his last trump and West dropped the jack of clubs. Now Henry took the diamond finesse and played a heart from dummy. West took his two aces and then had to lead a diamond to give Henry the last two tricks.

Couple Sentenced To Jail, Must Give Up Children

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A couple charged with receiving loot stolen in burglaries committed by two of their young daughters must spend a year in jail and give up their six children.

County Judge Martin Schenck yesterday sentenced Frank Summa, 34, a cook, and his wife, Louise, 31, on charges of receiving stolen property.

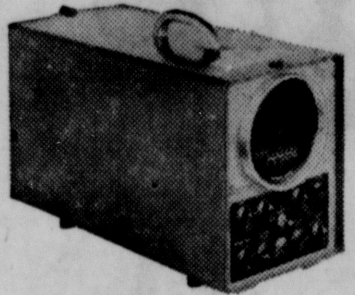

Police said their two oldest girls, 12 and 13, had turned over to their parents more than $3,500 in cash and jewelry taken in 29 burglaries. The officers said the Summas had used the money for family trips.

The children are in child-care institutions.

FREEMAN ADS MEAN GOOD BUSINESS

JUST LIKE A SUPERMARKET IN HER HOME: Modern electric freezers give today's homemaker undreamed of convenience and flexibility in meal preparation. Among the freezer's advantages are fewer shopping trips, and the opportunity to prepare dishes—and even whole meals—days or weeks in advance. In addition there are real savings opportunities when you buy seasonally-plentiful lower-cost foods and in large quantity purchases.

Water Heater To Warm Heart

How about giving your wife plenty of hot water for Christmas! Today's homemaker likes to be in hot water.

As a matter of fact, lack of an adequate supply of hot water spells nothing but trouble for the modern housewife.

That's because more and more, appliances depend on a good supply of hot water to produce their full labor-saving potential. Consider the automatic dishwasher which requires water of 160 to 180 degrees to deliver all the benefits it can provide.

Water that hot is needed not only to get food soil off the dishes but to kill any bacteria or germs which may be present on the dishes.

To provide an adequate and ever-ready supply of water as hot as this you can choose between a wide variety of modern electric water heaters.

Among the most popular are the so-called "quick recovery" heaters. This is the engineer's way of describing a rather small unit which has tremendous capacity because it heats more water as quickly as it is particularly important in today's homes where space is limited.

To fit any homemaker's needs these modern electric water heaters are available in both countertop and tank models. The latter can be installed in basements or utility rooms while the countertop model is trimly designed to fit into the kitchen and look like just another appliance.

The countertops on these models are available in a wide variety of materials and colors and provide extra counter space in the kitchen.

Another prime advantage of the electric water heater is that it does not require a vent or flue. This enables you to put in anywhere in the house, even in the kitchen where it will be close to the sink, the automatic dishwasher and possibly the laundry.

By bringing the water heater closer to where the hot water is used, shorter piping is required. This reduces the thermal loss, keeps the water hotter and makes it easier and less expensive to install.

Modern Disposer Does Away With Garbage Can

Chances are you've overlooked one of the best White Christmas ideas of all—but its an idea that almost four million Americans have thought of already. Installation of a modern food waste disposer does away with the entire subject of garbage. There's no doubt about the widespread appeal of disposers; they're being installed in one out of every three new homes being built this year.

Owners of disposers indicate that the appliance is truly a year-round gift, conferring benefits in the summer as distinct as in the winter. There's no need to dwell on the advantages of eliminating food waste before it can become garbage in the summer-time with heat and insects complicating the matter of garbage disposal. In wintertime, the whole process of getting outside to the garbage pail, brushing snow or water off its lid and throwing garbage away is equally inconvenient.

Twist of a Dial

Adjustment of water temperature for personal use or for a variety of household chores is as simple as the twist of the dial on your automatic gas water heater.

New Refrigerators

Give Convenience and Automation

Forty years ago you might have given her a Penguin to symbolize a White Christmas. Or it may have been a Vosse, a Zicer, or a Germanic.

Those are brand names of electric refrigerators which have long since disappeared. But back in 1916 they were the pioneers in the field. The Germanic, in fact, is said to have been the first nationally advertised refrigerator.

More than mere names have changed in household refrigeration, however. Those 1916 models, of course bear only a faint resemblance to current beauties. As a matter of fact, today's electric refrigerator differs radically from what was being sold as recently as five or ten years ago.

The primary change has been in the direction of convenience and automation. While you hear considerable talk about dramatic new inventions like the electronic refrigerator, such things are a good few years away. What really distinguishes today's refrigerators, however, are the extra convenience feature and reliability built into their performance.

Eliminating the chore of manual defrosting is but one of these conveniences which means a great deal to the housewife. Just as automatic defrosting represented a major improvement in refrigerator design a few years ago, now emphasis is being placed on designing units in which frost never accumulates. Several brands incorporating this advantage are on the market today. No woman who has ever tottered across the kitchen floor with a tray filled with defrost water is likely to underestimate the importance of this development.

Less dramatic perhaps, but every bit as important to the housewife are trays which roll out and trays which revolve. There are egg racks and cheese keepers and butter conditioners.

AUTOMATIC DEFROSTING AND NON-FROST REFRIGERATORS make possible a whole new concept in kitchen planning. When she no longer has to stagger back and forth with dripping trays, the housewife can more closely integrate her kitchen with other living areas.

Years ago you had to hold ice cube trays under a running faucet to get the ice out. Now there are a whole variety of trays with easy release features. And there are electric refrigerators which automatically maintain a constant supply of ice cubes so that no matter how many you use, more always will be on hand.

Most important of all, designers have taken heed of the housewife's desire to have a ready supply of frozen food on hand. The original refrigerator-freezer combinations have given birth to a whole family of new types, some with the freezer on the bottom, others with it on top and each with enough space to satisfy the requirements of any family, large or small.

Aware of the growing popularity of the home freezer, one manufacturer is marketing a unique pair of matching electric refrigerator and freezer. The refrigerator has no frozen food storage space at all since the matching twin freezer provides the space.

While this approach appeals to some families, others have found that limited floor space forces them to choose a single unit in which both refrigerator and freezer have been combined. This can be conveniently restocked from a freezer located in the basement, breezeway or garage.

These practical improvements have resulted in today's refrigerator which is almost as different from yesterday's as today's brand names are different from the long lost Vosse, Vicer, Germanic and Penguin.

Packaged Kitchens

More and more manufacturers are turning out pre-assembled packaged kitchens which combine several appliances within one framework. These units, customarily range between seven and nine feet in length and are easily adaptable to the use of the modern homemaker who has limited space.

Magic Flame Makes Ice

The magic of producing frost from a flame is something millions of homeowners take for granted. These are the families who enjoy modern, fully automatic gas refrigerators.

The dependability, economy and efficiency of gas makes it the ideal fuel for safe, convenient storage of food. Because there are no moving parts, no on-off cycling, gas refrigerators are constantly silent and interior temperatures remain the same 24-hours a day.

One of the features homemakers like best, says the American Gas Association, is the automatic ice maker which makes semi-circular disks of ice automatically, deposits them in a handy storage bin, and freezes a new supply. This process is repeated until an automatic control indicates that the ice bin is filled.

Best of all, there are never any trays to fill or spill. You have all the ice crescents you need—automatically.

Other features include a colorful, yet functional design. The interior is pink with blue and charcoal for the crisper drawers, two glide-out aluminum shelves with safety stops, tilt-out compartments for butter and eggs and full-width door shelves in charcoal gray and brushed gold. Rosewood inlaid door handles match the decorative motif. Automatic self defrosting, a roomy deep freeze compartment and generous storage space are additional features offered on today's gas refrigerators.

A new appliance gives her greater convenience, less work, more leisure time to spend with her family... and with you, her thoughtful husband!

A new appliance is an end to defrosting... an end to laundering drudgery... an end to "no hot water!" A new appliance means more convenient frozen food storage, fewer trips to the grocery... greater freedom from messy dishwashing... and more free time.

When you give your wife a major appliance, you have found the happiest, most heart-warming, most Christmas-spirited way to say "I love you—365 days a year!" See the White Christmas Special at your appliance dealer's today.

Gift Ideas
For Christmas

This Christmas why not give a major gas appliance to provide your family with year-round pleasure and convenience.

Here is a check-list of Christmas gift ideas from the American Gas Association.

Want to give your family plentiful supplies of hot, hot water at all times? Give a modern gas water heater.

Or perhaps your family would appreciate having all the ice cubes they want, when they want them? A gas refrigerator with the magic Ice Maker fills this bill.

An ideal family gift is "weather-insurance" in the form of a gas washer-dryer combination which puts an end to washday blues. No need to worry about the weather out-of-doors when you give an economical, fully automatic gas dryer.

All the family will enjoy a modern gas range, replete with built-in features such as griddle, rotisseries, meat thermometer, top burner heat control, automatic ignition of all burners, oven and broiler, and an array of automatic timing devices.

If freedom from furnace-tending and interrupted fuel deliveries, ranks high on your list of family needs, consider a modern gas furnace. You'll be giving year-round comfort.

For the newest thing in convenience try giving a smokeless, odorless gas incinerator. It puts an end to garbage and trash removal forever. You can see all of these new automatic gas appliances for your home at your local gas company or gas appliance dealers.

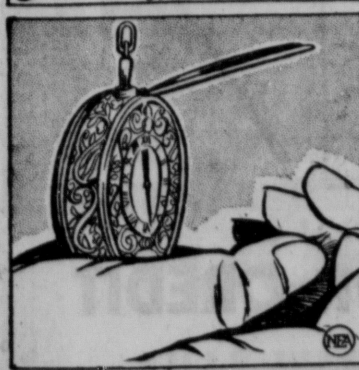

Improve Value

Modern gas kitchens and laundries not only add to comfort and convenience now, but also boost the value of your home, should resale ever be considered.

Ask An Expert

When planning kitchen improvements, consult an expert, especially when a built-in range is considered, suggests the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

Matter of FACT

Watches are clocks small enough to be "worn" on the person. The very first watch was probably made in 1504 by Peter Henlein, the same Nuremberg locksmith who is given credit for the invention of the mainspring. The first watches were made of iron and were so large they had to be worn hung from the belt. Later the cases were decorated, but the watches still kept time poorly.

Modern Range Cuts Clutter In Kitchens

If you're one of those householders with a kitchen that's cluttered with an assortment of single-purpose cooking appliances and you couldn't add another without a shoe horn, then hear this:

The new automatic gas ranges have 'em all — built in, so that, your shelves and cabinet space can be used for utensils and other essentials. Let's run down the list of "auxiliary" cooking functions so you can check:

Plug-in frying pan? Automatic deep fat fryer or broiler? With the top burner heat control that's standard equipment on new gas ranges, you're in a position to kiss the "special" appliances good-bye. In fact, this control makes any pot or pan in your closet into an automatic cooking appliance. A Dutch oven or chicken fryer takes a new lease on life when you can pre-set your gas cooking temperature and know positively that the heat won't vary more than two degrees through the whole cooking operation, unless you re-set it to automatic simmer or high heat.

All Work the Same

What's more, it makes no difference what size your utensil is or whether it's made of porcelain, stainless steel, iron, oven-proof glass or aluminum. They'll all work the same, because the dial for the top burner control can be set to compensate for any kind of utensil and the flexible gas flame will spread to contact the whole bottom of the pan without going to waste up the sides.

Does the new gas range give you the advantage of a combination broiler and rotisserie?

Naturally, and you can't beat the flavor your radiant-heat gas broiler imparts to steaks, while your rotating rotisserie makes delicious meals without heating your entire kitchen. Your range offers carefree cooking as a "plus," for you can leave the house while your roast is being barbecued to perfection, knowing that your oven control will take care of it, safely.

Automatic roaster?

Of course, and yours has a foolproof device for arriving at the exact degree of doneness you want — rare, medium, well-done or any shade between — simply by setting a dial on the probe that goes into your roast. And, as the Gas Appliance Manufacturers' Association points out, you can cook a complete meal, roast a turkey or bake puddings, cakes, pies and casserole dishes at the same time in your extra-wide oven.

King Size Model

Toaster? Yes. Your broiler also serves as a king-size toaster that can supply everyone in the family with toast at one fell swoop and it takes all sizes and thicknesses of breads.

In short, according to GAMA, you have the latest automatic appliances built right into your new gas range.

Vanishing Americans

According to figures compiled by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers' Association, the household servant is the vanishing American. In 1930 there were well over 400,000 domestics employed. Twenty years later there were fewer than 150,000. Fortunately American women have wonderful new appliances to replace the ever dwindling supply of household help.

THE WHOLE FAMILY makes itself at home in today's attractive, well organized gas kitchens. With versatile utility the keynote, the kitchen is part of the family living area, as well as the center of Mom's homemaking projects. And efficient gas appliances, from ranges to water heaters, are handsomely designed to make themselves at home with any kitchen decor.

Learning to Use Freezer to Full Advantage, Easy

Learning how to use your new freezer is no problem. The basic "textbook" is the instruction book which was packed with the freezer. It contains hints on use and care as well as instructions for packaging food, data on storage life, and an assortment of tested recipes.

Most modern cookbooks also contain sections on home freezing. The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture and your own state college of Agriculture have bulletins available on the subject.

Finally, the home service staff of your local utility will be glad to make suggestions and answer questions.

Smooths Clothes

Use the top of your clothes dryer as a folding and smoothing surface. The heat of the dryer aids in smoothing the clothes.

NO MONEY DOWN-PAY NEXT YEAR!

Cabinet Sink, Many Presents In One Gift

Time was when people talked about "everything but the kitchen sink."

Nowadays, modern homemakers have learned that "everything" is likely to be in the kitchen sink — the modern cabinet sink, that is.

Modern materials and modern designs have made it possible to turn the once homely sink into an attractive, streamlined cabinet package which harmonizes with other appliances and performs a central role in efficient kitchen operation.

Gives Needed Space

There's almost always a shortage of storage space in the kitchen and the cabinet sink provides an eminently sensible solution to the problem of creating additional storage facilities. Its steel construction not only provides a strong, permanent storage area but also guarantees that maintenance and cleaning will take a minimum of time.

Metal construction does away with cracks or crevices which might collect dirt and the lasting exterior finish stands up well even after extreme usage.

For many women new sinks have a particular appeal because buying a new sink is the biggest single step one can take to update a kitchen. As a matter of fact, many kitchen remodelers recommend that any step by step remodeling plan should start with a new sink and surrounding cabinets.

From this foundation one can build on, adding additional special purpose cabinets and new appliances as time and budget permit. The standardized dimensions of steel sinks and cabinets make such a program particularly feasible.

Nor have designers stopped their development work by merely glamorizing the old-fashioned sink with an exterior of useful cabinet space.

New Functions Added

New designs are appearing on the market which add new functions to the sink. One firm has introduced a "servi-center" which includes automatically timed electric outlets for small appliance cookery, a dispenser to supply detergent and hand lotion, a light for the sink bowl, and a series of easy-to-clean tilt-out storage bins.

Well aware of the usefulness of cabinet sinks and that such new innovations are being made, it's little wonder that the modern housewife would be considerably more than pleased to see one of these automatic electric sinks in her kitchen on Christmas morning. For her, it truly would be a White Christmas.

Cleaning Up

Modern electric refrigerators are easy to keep clean but here's a tip. Be sure to wipe up spills at once before they've had a chance to harden and require scrubbing.

Paint It Yourself

You can make your kitchen look like new with a simple application of one coat of paint on steel cabinets. Colors are available to match or to contrast with your appliances.

What They Say

Here's what automatic dishwasher users say: Fewer dishes and glasses broken, fewer tea towels needed, hot water saved because dishes are done fewer times a day.

Always Sunny

It's always sunny clothes drying weather, with the help of an automatic gas dryer to give clothes a better-than-outdoors freshness and fragrance.

HOW BIG?

Here's a good rule of thumb for judging the capacity of a food freezer: one cubic foot holds approximately 35 pounds of bulk food.

For Fish Fillets

Fish fillets that are to be fried are delicious when they are first dipped in seasoned flour, then in beaten egg and milk or water, and finally in fine dry bread crumbs.

WASHING IS FUN WITH THE NEW HOME LAUNDRY—As she easily transfers the clothes from washer to dryer, your wife will always remember the long steps up from the basement to the backyard, and the hanging of the heavy clothes on dreary days. Every washday, she'll thank you for her White Christmas.

How You Can Cook With Gas With New Broiler

This Christmas outdoor chefs and Sunday food specialists can turn out delicious flame-kissed steaks, chops and burgers right in the comfort of their own kitchen or family room.

The man of the house will be overjoyed with this new gas appliance for modern living—a gas-fired barbecue broiler. While eliminating the mess and bother of charcoal the new broiler retains the genuine barbecue flavor by heating ceramic "coals" with the blue flame of natural gas.

A special tilt-back grill controls flare-ups. The unit can easily be built into kitchen counters, located in the family room or built into a chimney as a companion piece to a built-in gas oven.

The prototype of this new gas-fired broiler is found in many of the country's better steak houses and restaurants, the American Gas Association points out.

Restaurant chefs were the first to doubt the theory that charcoal imparted a distinctive taste to foods. They reasoned that if this were true, then all meat should taste the same.

Actually, flavor is obtained by using the intense heat to melt the fats of the meat quickly. This process creates a flame that seals the meat. Flavor is enhanced as the flame subsides and the droplets of fat fall slowly into the coals, creating a smoke that imparts the delicious flavor of the meat cooking.

The new gas barbecue-broiler is sturdily built and designed for clean, effortless operation. The counter-type model is thoroughly insulated and has received the American Gas Association Laboratories Seal of Approval.

The Red Cross certified 104,500 nurses for military service in World War II, more than four times as many as in World War I.

YOUR POCKETBOOK

Your Community Should Join In Planning for Prosperity

BY FAYE HENLE

The bus stop on an avenue close to where I live recently was changed from the north corner, by the drug store, to the south corner, in front of the stationery store.

In no time the stationer's business picked up. He was selling three times as many papers and packs of cigarettes. This forced the druggist to stock a new line of cosmetics, expand his toy display and instruct his clerks to start catering to the customers.

How does this incident relate to you who live hundreds of miles from this corner? It typifies in minute fashion what is happening in our country coast-to-coast.

A web of new highways stretching across the nation is changing completely the contour of many of our towns and cities. The influence of highways spreads far beyond the adjoining land. Whether these expressways bring prosperity or blight to your area depends on you.

Throughout the country urban planning now lags far behind highway planning, which has priority financing from the federal government and from state gasoline taxes. Yet in many areas in the recent election, you voted substantial sums for slum clearance, new housing, school, sewer and playground projects.

You should now busy yourself with the matter of getting those appropriated funds spent so wisely that they will spell prosperity — prosperity that will more than offset the cost to you as taxpayers for these new, needed facilities.

For example, it is estimated that the nation's highway program is necessitating the relocation of an estimated 90,000 families yearly. As these families relocate they will create new needs. This is where you as citizens should become more vocal. You should insist on co-operative planning between highway engineers and city planners.

Some communities already are doing this, but not enough of them have shown such foresight. The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston in its monthly review cites New Haven, as a bright example.

Here the highway system and a half dozen urban renewal projects are being designed to rejuvenate the central portion of the city. Slums are being eliminated. Land is being put to different uses.

If you live in an area where new highway construction is contemplated or under way, you should organize citizens' committees to confer with city planners who, in turn, should work with federal officials.

It could be that preliminary plans call for razing park facilities or such. These might be too costly to replace and thus rerouting the expressway could be more favorable.

Whether you are located in a metropolitan area or a small town, the physical changes in your locale have a greater bearing on your business than you may now realize.

Join in planning what will spell prosperity for the majority, for then you too will stand to benefit from our nation's growth.

They're Trouble-Free

Trouble-free operation is feature of modern gas refrigerators, which have no motors, compressor belts, valves or other moving parts to break down.

Do Special Cooking

Special controls, griddles, rotisserie ovens and other features of the new gas ranges now perform special cooking functions that once required many auxiliary appliances.

"Gin" in "cotton gin" is an abbreviation for "engine."

U.S. Seeks Views On Registering Boats Like Autos

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today solicited the views of boating interests on a new plan to register millions of motorboats in much the same fashion as automobiles.

Only 477,000 boats are now registered. The scope of the program is being expanded in the hope of promoting greater boating safety.

Sets Public Hearing

The Merchant Marine Council, an arm of the Coast Guard, scheduled a public hearing on proposed regulations to implement a new registration law which Congress passed last summer.

National associations representing motorboat operators and manufacturers of boats and engines were expected to present their reactions.

The council will take the testimony into account before making recommendations to the Coast Guard commandant. Final regulations won't be issued for several months.

Congressional sources said as many as 3½ million motorboats may be subject to registration under the new law.

Appeals to All Boats

There are about seven million power boats in the country, but many are exempt because of size or because they aren't operated in interstate waters.

The law applies to all boats, regardless of size, which are powered by motors of more than 10 horsepower. The old registration law affected all inboard motorboats but excluded outboards of less than 16 feet in length.

The new law excludes foreign vessels, federal ships, state and municipal vessels and lifeboats. In addition, the proposed Coast Guard regulation would exempt vessels used exclusively for racing.

Must Act by 1960

Congress has given the states until April 1, 1960, to adopt the new registration system. If a state doesn't act by then, the Coast Guard will handle registrations in that state.

Like motorists, owners of registered boats will have to report any changes of ownership or address. Any they will be required to report any collision or accident in which a person is killed or injured or property damage exceeds $100.

Two Girls Sentenced

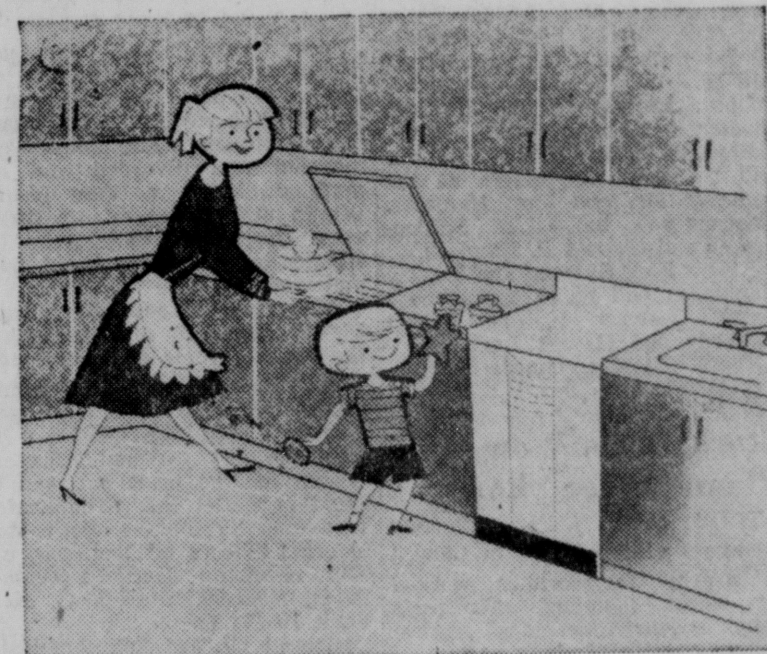

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Two young Greek-Cypriot society girls were sentenced today to nine months in prison for carrying a hand grenade.

One of them threw it at a police vehicle but said she left the pin in so it wouldn't explode. The girls, Anna Melissa, 20, and Yioulia Marcellou, 18, said two men had given them the grenade on Nov. 4 and ordered them to throw it.

Anna is the daughter of a former Supreme Court judge. Yioulia's father is a bank official.

NEW VERSATILE WATER HEATERS can even fit into your kitchen. Here, in addition to all the advantages of plenty of just right hot water for all your household needs, they save piping reduce thermal loss and install more easily.

Saved Life of Girl Elevator Death Of Heroic Boy Is Under Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—The Manhattan district attorney is investigating the death in an elevator of a heroic 14-year-old boy.

The boy, Stanley Guinn, a Negro, was crushed to death last Saturday night as he saved the life of a 2-year-old white girl. The elevator had been found defective by residents of the Manhattan apartment house.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan Monday assigned Alexander Herman, chief of the Homicide Bureau, to head the prosecutor's inquiry.

City Buildings Commissioner Peter J. Reedy said the elevator was repaired last July after two complaints had been received. Reedy said an inspector again found the elevator all right last month after another two complaints had been received.

Last week visitors to the building said they went down when the elevator's "up" button was pushed.

Reedy said he would present to the district attorney his records on the building.

The Guinn boy tossed infant Lydia Abram from the elevator on the sixth floor. He acted when the elevator began to sink although its door remained open. The boy was caught by the roof of the ill-descending car and crushed. The child was not hurt. Three other passengers, including the infant's mother, were helped out uninjured.

Police said the boy's body may have saved the other passengers from a six-story drop.

Red Subs to Chart Missions on Trips

LONDON (AP)—Soviet submarines are to range the world's oceans on special charting missions.

Moscow radio today said the subs would follow up work done by Soviet scientists in connection with the International Geophysical Year program. Together with surface vessels, they will conduct oceanographic surveys "in various areas of the world's oceans," particularly in the Southern Hemisphere.

The broadcast said the first of a fleet of specially equipped submarines will put to sea shortly to make a survey for the Soviet Research Institute of Marine Fishery and Oceanography.

TROY, N. Y. (AP) — Women members of the Lutheran Church in nearby Raymington worked for weeks planning a surprise baby shower for Mrs. Ernest Spangler, wife of their pastor. But it was the Rev. Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette" etc.
RESTRAINING THE CHILDREN OF VISITORS

Dear Mrs. Post: What can a harassed host and hostess do, short of rudeness, to rescue their furniture and accessories from the undisciplined children of some of their guests? We love children and enjoy having them play in our house; but what can we do when the parents sit idly by and let the children climb on the coffee table, put their feet up on the piano and play with our knickknacks, without once telling them to "stop"? We have tried diverting the children or finding something for them to play with, but this means we have to spend every minute chasing them around the house instead of visiting with the adults. We certainly don't want to make our friends feel unwelcome but neither do we wish the expensive furniture repair that followed in the wake of one visit.

Answer: It seems to me that at the risk of making the parents feel unwelcome, all you can do is to tell them that you love the things in your house, that most of them are very fragile, and that you are afraid the children will ruin them unless they are restrained. After all there is no reason, in order to be polite, that you have to sit quietly by while cherished possessions are abused.

Tippling Husband's Employee

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband owns a restaurant and very often I go there for meals. I would like to know if I am supposed to tip the waiter who serves me.

Answer: A tip from the proprietor's wife will hardly be expected, but if you give a waiter much extra work it would be kind to give him something. This might be a Christmas present.

A Twice-Married Couple

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me which would be the proper date to celebrate a twenty-fifth wedding anniversary in this situation: The couple were married and divorced and remarried after a few years. Would it be proper to disregard the years they were divorced and celebrate their original wedding date?

Answer: They should celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the date of their first marriage.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. The essentials for a hope chest include a list of linens and personal trousseau clothes for the bride and can be found in leaflet E-5, "The Bride's Trousseau." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19 N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

MR. AND MRS. BRUCE K. SPADER
(Reynolds photo)

Ortmann - Spader Wedding Is Announced;
Ceremony Takes Place at Hurley Church

The marriage of Miss Joan Louise Ortmann, daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Ortmann of Lexington, Ky., to

Bruce K. Spader, son of Mrs. Fred B. Lindquist of St. Petersburg, Fla., and John Spader of Kingston, took place Sunday, Nov. 30, at Hurley Reformed Church, Hurley.

Officiating clergymen were the Rev. Harold Schadevall, pastor of Hurley Reformed Church, and the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of Fair Street Reformed Church, Kingston. It was a double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Benson Hilgers and Mrs. Peter Palen were soloists. Mrs. Leroy Vogt was organist.

White mums and pompons were used to decorate the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length wedding gown of bouquet taffeta and chantilly lace styled with a Sabrina neckline and long lace sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured tiers of chantilly lace. A fingertip veil of bridal illusion was gathered to a pointed tiara of seed pearls and sequins. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Paul Snyder of 197 Bruyn Avenue served as matron of honor. She wore a rouge red crystallette gown styled with a long torso and bouffant skirt. A matching jacket and braided crown with ivy completed her outfit. She carried a cascade bouquet.

Miss Arlene Granquist of Sawkill and Mrs. Donald Adelberg of Franklin, N. J., served as attendants. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the honor attendant. They carried light green cymbidium orchids.

Best man was William Hoffstatter of DeWitt Mills Road. Ushers were Jack Spader, the bridegroom's brother, and Robert Smith of Port Ewen.

More than 110 guests were entertained at a wedding reception at the Wiltwyck Country Club.

For her wedding trip to Washington, D. C., the bride wore a navy wool dress with navy shoes, pink hat, gloves and handbag and a red coat.

The couple, both of whom are employed by IBM in Lexington, Ky., will reside there at 331 Duke Road.

CELEBRATE SILVER ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Pingitore of 148 Florida Avenue, Amsterdam, who were guests of honor at a surprise dinner given recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nardi, Flatbush Road, Kingston. Relatives from Syracuse, Amsterdam, Poughkeepsie, Arlington, Long Island and this city also attended the gala event.

Holiday Hazards

Along with all the gaiety of the Yuletide season come warnings about fires in the home. A rather depressing thought, but important.

What with tinsel, dry Christmas trees and bubbling (but so intoxicating) eggnog, it might do well to heed the warnings of our chief fire eaters.

The first thing most adults do when confronted with the idea of fire is to turn to junior and say, "see—you must never play with matches!" Surprisingly enough, a survey of 500 fire chiefs disclosed that children are responsible for LESS THAN ONE FIRE IN 100. So next time you admonish your young son or daughter not to play with matches, make a mental note to exercise every precaution yourself.

Carelessness — especially in smoking habits—leads the list of fire causes. Worst offenders are adults who either fail to take heed in throwing away cigarettes of fall asleep with burning cigarettes in their hands. As far as I am concerned this almost constitutes a criminal act because these selfish creatures are not only endangering their own lives but the lives of others as well.

Other foremost fire hazards are: defective wiring, faulty heating equipment, improper handling of cooking utensils, careless disposal of rubbish, and storing of rubbish near inflammable liquids.

Every member of the family should know exactly what to do in case of a fire. Step by step: first, evacuate the house; second, call the fire department; then—only if you can do it safely—try to fight the fire yourself.

Gifts for Cooks

The most cherished gift for a woman genuinely interested in cooking is a cooking tool she might not buy for herself. If she has a new range, she will love a square skillet with a temperature chart on the handle. One large skillet will perform the majority of daily cooking tasks. Skillets come with a domed cover and can be used for frying, stewing and baking.

Another idea—range-to-table ware is prettier than ever this year. Saucepans and skillets can double as serving dishes with no apologies. Polished metals and beautifully colored ceramics keep the food piping hot. Table protectors make nice accompanying gifts.

Of course a good cookbook is always a welcome gift. And we are fortunate in having several available to us and written by a local personality. I am referring to Miss Maria Lo Pinto, author of "The New York Cook Book," a collection of various types of foreign dishes. Miss Lo Pinto has also had published such best sellers as "The Art of Italian Cooking," "Art of Making Italian Desserts" and "Eat Honey and Live Longer." Miss Lo Pinto maintains a residence on Lucas Avenue extension.

And of course, whether you are in France, Holland, Sweden or the United States, you'll find that little children love to cook. Miniature housewares and kitchen appliances, identical to mother's will make welcome gifts for them. You'll also find on the market small sizes of food products and simple cookbooks. Gifts like these can do much to inspire tomorrow's cooks and es-

CHEESE CLUB SANDWICH
Melt ½ pound sharp cheddar cheese over a low flame. Add ½ cup of milk and stir until smooth. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and ¼ teaspoon dry mustard. Remove the sauce from the flame and serve over slices of toast. Garnish with crisp pieces of bacon. Served with fresh fruit, coffee and milk, this makes a good luncheon dish.

Area Women Work Toward Organizing Voters' League Here

A pre-organizational meeting of the proposed Kingston League of Women Voters will be held here Tuesday, Jan. 6.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p. m. in the library of George Washington School, according to an announcement from Mrs. Robert S. Yallum, temporary chairman of the new group. In charge of the meeting will be Mrs. William Denslow, field secretary of the League of Women Voters of New York, and Mrs. Bernard Slavitt, Westchester area organizations chairman for the state unit.

Mrs. Yallum stressed that all area women interested in the formation of a Kingston League of Women Voters should reserve the Jan. date and be sure to attend, since attendance at the meeting will be the only sign of local interest in the project that the state officials can assess.

Included in the agenda for the evening's meeting will be the election of by-laws and nominations committees for the new organization.

A similar meeting, aimed at establishing a Woodstock League was held at 8 p. m. Monday in the Town Gallery. Mrs. Denslow attended the session; Mrs. Harry C. Lawson is in charge of the Woodstock group.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization, aimed at promoting political responsibility through the informed and active participation of citizens in their government. The organization works through small units which study governmental problems on the local, state and national level; once an item has been studied and a decision made, the League informs the public of its findings through local media of communication.

Assisting Mrs. Yallum in making arrangements for the meeting are Mrs. Charles E. Meyer and Mrs. Reid A. Heasler, Hurley; Mrs. Victor I. Randel, Ringtop Rd. Ext.; Mrs. R. G. Drowns, Governor Clinton Hotel; Mrs. Abraham Greenbaum, 17 Brookside Ct., Halcyon Park, Lake Katrine; Mrs. Anthony Turck, 70 Fairmont Ave.; Mrs. Morton D. Zucker, 69 Wilson Ave.; Mrs. Bernard C. Bouton, 260 Smith Ave.; and Mrs. Ellsworth L. Johnson, 10 Kiersted Lane. Any one interested in more information about the League of Women Voters or the Jan. 6 meeting is urged to contact a member of the committee.

Will Not Display Niver Homestead Christmas Lights

The Christmas lights at the Niver Homestead Farm at Andromeda, Columbia County which last year attracted the attention of hundreds of motorists from both sides of the Hudson River, will not be displayed this year.

According to Kenneth and Beverly Hoag, they sincerely regret that display of the holiday lights will not be possible this year due to illness in the family.

However, they are anticipating an even larger display next year.

The Hoags said that since the opening of the Kingston-Rhinebeck Bridge they have had many Kingston visitors who came to see the Christmas display. Some have already made inquiries about this year's display, they said.

NARCE to Meet Saturday, 2 P.M.

The next regular meeting of the National Association of Retired Civil Employees will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue, at which time new officers will be elected.

Mrs. Ruth Cipolli urged any interested retired civil employees to attend the meeting and join Local 461.

She called attention to the "wonderful NARCE spirit" in the local chapter. "One has only to come out and meet our good officers and friendly members to appreciate good fellowship and fun and refreshments."

She said that each new member would be automatically solicited for the NARCE hospital-surgical plan, with application in the mail within 30 days after date of enrollment in the association.

Students Object To Yule Classes

WEST LONG BRANCH, N. J. (AP) — Some 500 Monmouth College students reacted vigorously Monday when informed by President Edward G. Schlaefter that the college would conduct classes between Christmas and New Year's Day to stay abreast of the Russians in education.

Singing "Come Down, Come Down From Your Ivory Tower," they quickly converged under his third-floor office, waving signs which read "Beat Russia."

A straw effigy of Schlaefter was pelted with stones and oranges, feathered, hung from a second-story window, and burned. The burning straw mingled in the air with ballads such as "White Christmas" and "Jingle Bells."

West Long Branch police stood silently by as Schlaefter finally came out on his balcony and said: "We must utilize all of our time and facilities in this national emergency to keep up with the Russians."

Schlaefter said later he planned no disciplinary action but also had no intention of changing the schedule.

The effigy-burning brought out former Monmouth College President Eugene Leahman, who mounted some steps and declared he was "glad to see the students of this college stirred up at last."

Says Plot Smashed

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's government today claimed it had smashed a plot against it. A communiqué said "foreign elements" were involved with Iraqi plotters. The announcement said the attempt on the government was timed for today and Wednesday.

Things Brighter For Injured Dad Of Fire Victim

CHICAGO (AP)—Things looked a little brighter—literally and figuratively—today for Stanley Burda.

Things were blackest a week ago when he left Cook County Hospital wearing protective blinders over an injured eye to make funeral arrangements for his daughter.

The girl, Beverly Ann, 13, was killed in the fire Dec. 1 at Our Lady of the Angels School.

Burda, a 37-year-old former milkman, was unemployed. On the morning of his daughter's death, a splinter which penetrated his left eye while he was chopping wood was removed.

The tragedy got Burda a job, temporarily, checking up on the needs of other families whose children were killed or injured in the fire. He was hired for this work by Jim Moran, an auto dealer, who announced he would give $10,000 to needy families of fire victims.

Burda was told by doctors Monday he could take off his blinders. His injured eye is virtually normal again.

Peiping Adds Pressure

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Communist China has joined the Soviet Union in applying diplomatic pressure for Finland to bring Communists into its government. Government sources disclosed today that Peiping withdrew its ambassador in October and has not submitted the name of a successor. The Soviet ambassador departed in September and his post also remains vacant.

She Prefers Jail Woman, 63, Is Given Freedom By Miami Judge

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Estelle Mason, 63, wanted to spend the rest of her life in jail. Instead, the judge turned her loose.

"I hoped I'd get life," said Mrs. Mason. "All I got to live on is a $50 a month pension and where can you live in Miami on $50 a month? In jail I never had it so good—radio, food served in my room and no dishes."

Returned from a year in a mental hospital, the white-haired Mrs. Mason pleaded guilty in Circuit Court Monday to a charge of manslaughter and received a five-year suspended sentence.

She was ordered confined to the state mental hospital in Chatahoochee last year after standing a second-degree murder trial for the Sept. 11, 1957, slaying of her brother Irving DuBarry, 61.

At her insistence, the state recently agreed to re-try her for manslaughter, giving her a second chance at her goal-life in prison.

Red Cross Slates First Aid Course, Starts January 14

A 10-hour standard first aid course will begin Monday, Jan. 12, given by the local Red Cross Chapter and taught by Joseph Badalamenti, an authorized first aid instructor.

Classes will be held in the library of the City Laboratory from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. each Monday for five consecutive weeks.

The purpose of the course is to foster interest in safety and to present the basic principles in first aid.

Harold R. Sanford, Red Cross chairman of safety services said, "Having studied first aid, one is more likely to assist family members wisely if they are stricken, to give them some instruction in first aid, and to promote among them a reasonable safety attitude. While the principal benefits are to the student and his family, they extend further, usually, to co-workers, acquaintances, and strangers. There is always an obligation on a humanitarian basis to assist the stricken and helpless."

A standard first aid certificate, valid for three years, will be awarded for the successful completion of the course. Those who are interested in receiving the training are asked to call Red Cross, and enroll.

PSC Rules Stations Must Shelter Riders

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York City's commuters may be a hardy breed but the Public Service Commission says they deserve more than canopies to protect them from the weather.

The New York Central Railroad had asked permission to close six stations in the Bronx and substitute canopied platforms as waiting areas for commuters.

The PSC said Monday the railroad could discontinue selling tickets at the stations but must keep them open, heated and lighted weekdays from 7 to 10 a. m. The commission adopted a report by an examiner who said the canopied platforms did not seem an adequate alternative.

The railroad estimated it would save $22,000 a year in elimination of the ticket-selling operation at the six stations.

Saint-Gaudens Dies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Homer S. Saint-Gaudens, who died Monday, was a man who knew the value of color.

To the art world, he was an authority; the military respected him for his pioneering work on camouflage.

Saint-Gaudens, 78, was stricken by an apparent heart attack. His father was Augustus Saint-Gaudens, one of America's foremost sculptors.

Survivors include his widow; a son, Augustus of Miami; and a daughter, Mrs. John E. Dodge, Stonington, Conn.

... ADD ONE SCREAM

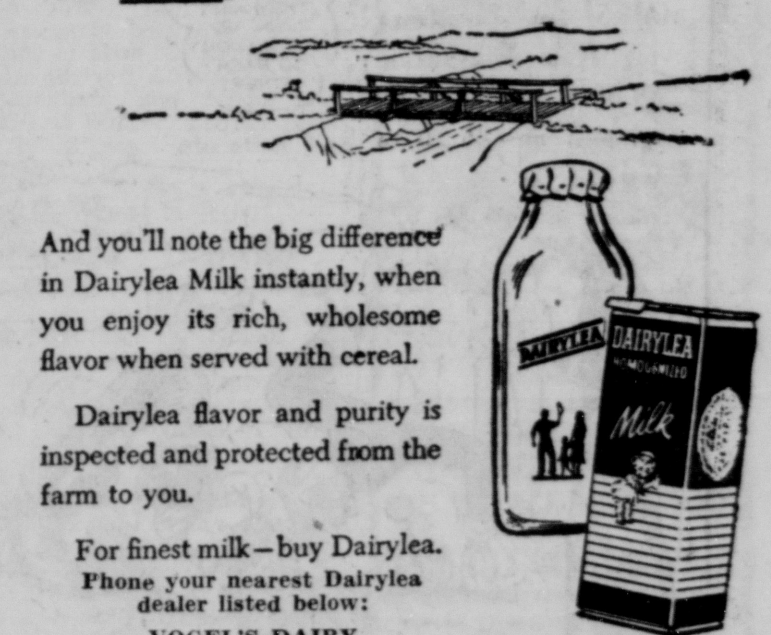

Can you imagine pouring turpentine on an open cut? This was the favorite way to prevent lockjaw some years ago. Naturally, we wouldn't think of doing this now. But then, we're lucky. We have tetanus toxoids and antitoxins. Thanks to medical science, lockjaw need no longer be a killer . . . previously, death occurred in 90% of the cases. Children, because of their affinity for cuts, sometimes pick up the tetanus germ. So, if there are young children in your family, be sure to ask your physician about preventive tetanus shots. It's always wise to seek your doctor's advice before using any medicines. And next time you have a prescription to be filled, think of us.

THIS 'N' THAT
A scientist (a few years past) was someone who was thought of last. He was the chap in shabby clothes, with glasses half way down his nose. An "egghead" with a bulging brow, who always tried to tell folks how. And if he ventured on TV, you changed the station instantly. How could a scientist compare with "Slapstick Sam" or "Fanny Fair"? Now (it appears) we've called a truce: The "egghead" seems to have some use. And even boneheads will allow, we need someone to tell us how. For in the mighty missile race, the scientists must conquer space. And all of us have got to aid by giving them upon their way; and seeing they have ample pay. So let's not be a low-brow snob. Let's help the high-brows do a job!—Karl Flaster

A guest hurried up to the hotel desk. He had just ten minutes to pay his bill, reach the station, and board the train.
Guest—Hang it. I've forgotten something. Here, boy, run up to my room—No. 427—and see if I left my pajamas and shaving kit. Hurry. I've only five minutes now.
The boy hurried. In four minutes he returned empty-handed and out of breath.
Bell Boy—Yes, sir. You left them.

Second Texan—Yeah? What happened?

Watchmen Admit Pilfering Items

NEW YORK (AP)—Three licensed port watchmen have admitted before the Waterfront Commission that they pilfered from cargoes they were hired to guard.

Francis T. Thompson, 25, of Staten Island, appeared Monday before a commission hearing.

Two other watchmen failed to show up, but mailed their licenses to the commission. All were accused of stealing shoes, whisky, radios, tools, sheets and pillow cases from the Brooklyn piers.

Hearing officer Paul Franken said the full commission would decide what action to take against the men.

The two who mailed in their licenses were Frank Mancini, 25, of Brooklyn, and Nicholas Carpentieri, 40, of Brooklyn. Franken said hearings will be held for Mancini and Carpentieri in their absence. A hearing will be held Jan. 4 for four other watchmen accused of pilfering and loan shark activities.

$25,000 Taken

NEW YORK (AP)—A safe in a West Side supermarket swung open and the burglar alarm sounded automatically in the office of a private detective agency. The alarm was followed immediately by another signal indicating there was no trouble.

There was trouble. Three gunmen who forced cashier Gerard Salmon at gunpoint to open the safe Monday knew about the second signal. They told him to send it.

The three men escaped with $25,000 cash and $22,000 in checks, some of them negotiable.

Gotham Closes 3 Private Schools

NEW YORK (AP)—Three more private schools have been closed in the City Fire Department's intensive school inspection campaign.

Two schools in Brooklyn and one in Queens were ordered shut Monday after fire inspections disclosed hazards.

One of the Brooklyn schools, with 300 pupils, was fined $500 in Municipal Term Court for building violations.

Since the city undertook its inspection campaign last Wednesday, 14 school buildings have been closed. The inspection program began after a Chicago school fire, which claimed 92 lives.

A small fire termed suspicious broke out Monday in a Manhattan junior high school. It was the third fire in three months at the school. Fire officials said custodians put it out and a previous blaze before notifying the department.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. protested to Dr. John J. Theobald, superintendent of schools, and asked him to instruct the staffs of all schools to turn in fire alarms and sound fire drill warnings immediately upon discovery or even suspicion of a fire.

Of the 14 schools closed during the inspection campaign, six have re-opened, four of them Monday, after eliminating unsafe conditions.

Gas Fumes Kill Six

NAGOYA, Japan (AP)—Mrs. Fumio Tanizawa and her five children, aged 1 to 11, were found dead from gas poisoning in their home Monday night.

Police also found that the gas came from a hot water heater whose chimney was stopped up by a rubber ball and an empty box.

"Obviously one of the children put the stuff into the chimney while playing," a policeman said.

Ave Reappoints, Rockefeller Can Send Own Names

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Harriman reappointed Dr. John L. Edwards of Hudson to the State Bridge Authority today.

He also reappointed Howard E. Bowen of Holley and A. Willard Densmore of Albion to the North-western New York Water Authority.

All three posts are unsalaried. Harriman designated the three men as interim appointees because appointments to both agencies require confirmation by the Senate, which will not convene until Jan. 7.

Governor-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller, who will succeed Harriman on Jan. 1, may send his own nominations to the Senate.

The full term of appointees on both agencies is five years. All three have continued to serve, although their terms have expired.

Harriman also announced six appointments to advisory councils of various colleges in the State University system. Appointments to these unsalaried boards do not require Senate confirmation.

The appointees and their terms are:

Gilligan Is Hopeful As KHS Hosts Middies

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Four returning regulars and a hot-shot jayvee prospect has prompted pre-season dopesters to install Newburgh Free Academy as the favorite to win the DUSO Basketball crown. The season opens tonight and hopes of Kingston High School for a good showing during the campaign will depend on how well the team can do in its debut against Middletown. The Maroon will play the Middies at the Kate Walton field house with the jayvee clubs getting together at 6:30 and the varsity game following.

Other opening contests will find Liberty's defending champions at Newburgh against the Goldbacks, Fallsburg at Port Jervis and Ellenville at Poughkeepsie against Sam Kalloch's Pioneers.

Kingston Coach John Gilligan is hopeful that his club can make a strong showing in the pennant chase. However, he has many problems confronting him as his cagers take the floor for the first time tonight. The biggest, at the present is the physical condition of center Hobbie Armstrong, the rugged rebounder.

Old Ankle Injury

Armstrong has not fully recovered from his ankle injury he received during the football season and Gilligan said he has looked good in only one scrimmage. If Hobbie can't operate at full strength, KHS will have trouble clearing the backboards. A healthy Armstrong will brighten the stock considerably. Kingston figures to start with veteran John Kelly and the Jayvee star of last season, Joe Uhl at forwards, Armstrong at center and Bob Short and Charley Williams at guard. Williams missed most of last week's practice sessions. He had an infected elbow.

Gilligan received one happy note this week. Walt Harder, who fractured his ankle during an earlier scrimmage session, started practicing again last night and may be ready for some action before the Christmas holidays.

Middies Fast

Middletown has little height but a lot of speed and was impressive last week against Beacon. The visitors downed the Middies, but Coach Bob Markes' cagers showed plenty of offense and should prove to be trouble some during the season. Kingston definitely will have its hands full tonight.

Newburgh, with starters Leroy Riley, Jack Connan, Pete Gama and Vinnie DeCervo and jayvee star Alan Handler on hand, play host to Liberty tonight at the Hilly City. The Indians are carrying a 24-game winning streak into the clash. The Goldbacks have height, speed and scoring punch and are favored to trim the visitors. Liberty has lost most of its great team which carried it to an unbeaten season last year. However, center Josh Gerow is still around and he has been pumping in the points. In two non-league tilts, Gerow has registered 31 and 23 markers.

Oswick Gone

Fallsburg and Port Jervis figure to have trouble this season. Port has lost its scoring machine, Alex Oswick and also starters Russ Parsons, Bruce Parsons and Joe Conroy as well as number one reserve, Charles Cuddeback. To make matters worse, Bill Pepper had not reported for the club as late as last week. That leaves Harry Boyd, a rugged rebounder and top flight scorer as the only returnee to the second place club. Fallsburg has won a pair of non-league starts but the DUSO company figures to be too fast for the Comets.

Poughkeepsie has high scoring Dic DePew back for another season and will have the services of center Joe Molinaro for a half a year. That should make the Pioneers tough until February anyway. Bob and Herb Boschen and Jimmy Gordon figure to complete the Poughkeepsie lineup. Dave Bonner will probably be sixth man. All the starters have had varsity experience. Chief losses for the Pioneers are defensive ace Deke Johnson and high scoring forward Pat McKenna. Ellenville hopes nothing happens to Ben Davis, the 6-6 center. He represents the lone offensive threat for the Elites.

Monticello draws a bye tonight and will not swing into action until Friday when it journeys to Liberty. The Monties figure to have a lot to say about the pennant picture. Coach Bucky Roche has a veteran club mixed with some of last season's jayvee stars and it figures to win a few games.

The clubs will play four games before the holidays and by then some indication should be forthcoming as to the possible contenders and the also rans.

State Bowling Wins Three Points

Jerry Oster fired a brilliant 923 Sunday to lead State Bowling to three points over Engleman Bowling in the Capital City Classic league. Oster had games of 246-198-269-212 for his total. John Ferraro added 657 and John Rampe, the Liberty ace, shot 793.

Big noise in the league was the resounding 1,056 total fired by Joe Donato. It is the Albany high four game mark and it led his team, Otto's to a sweep and into first place in the circuit. Averaging 198 before the day, Donato raised his average to 202 with games of 288-256-248-264. Otto's had 2,200 for the first three games, only 28 pins below the all-time National record set by Budweiser Beer of St. Louis in 1957. The 2,200 tied the second highest mark, rolled Jan. 9, 1958 by Wisconsin Coal and Ice at Milwaukee. The ABC recognizes only the first three games for records.

Over 30 Cage League Schedules Meeting

An organizational meeting of the Over 30 Basketball League will take place Wednesday, 8:30 p. m. at the Kingston Recreation Department, 97 Broadway. All teams interested in entering the league are requested to have representation at the inaugural meeting.

The league has proven very popular in past years. It was conceived by the Recreation Department and is made up of players who have reached their 30th birthday prior to the start of the season. Each team is allowed one player under 30, providing the player does not participate in any organized basketball league.

Regular basketball rules have been changed in order to slow up the game and in particular to completely eliminate the fast break as we know it in basketball today. However, the game remains just fast enough for this age group to participate and not injure their health.

Andy Murphy, recreation commission superintendent, said this is the fourth year the league will operate.

Five Returning Lettermen Brighten Highland Hopes

Larry Green, new Highland High school basketball coach, has five lettermen returning from last year's club which produced a 5-13 record. They include co-captains Phil Bezzaro and Ralph Penny, Bill Phillips, Leo Lillimaggi and George Schieber.

Also returning is Bill Algiers, who saw limited action last year due to an injury sustained early in the season. Rounding out this year's club are Harold Berean, John Brennie and Jim Hannon. Highland started its season last Friday and bowed to Rosevelt, defending Dutchess County Scholastic champion, 71-43. The team was scheduled at home against Wappingers Falls this afternoon.

Two big losses Green has to fill are Dave Burdash and Ron Cappilino. This is his first season at Highland and he hesitates to make any predictions on the UCAL race. However, the Highland coach feels his club can give anyone a good fight.

Northwestern Looks Strong, Kansas Misses Chamberlain

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ

Associated Press Sports Writer

A new college basketball era may be dawning for Northwestern long a stepchild among Big Ten titans. Meanwhile, once-mighty Kansas, a perennial Big Seven threat, faces lean days this season without Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain.

Northwestern, picked with Purdue as the Big Ten preseason favorites, is justifying the evaluations thus far. The Wildcats, 10th in the first Associated Press weekly poll, turned back Notre Dame, No. 11 in the listings, 68-63 Monday night.

The victory was Northwestern's third in a row.

Kansas, No. 7, bowed to upstart Denver 73-60 for its first setback after victories over Rice and Canisius. The 7-foot Chamberlain joined the Harlem Globetrotters after two seasons at Kansas.

Ruklick Nets 30

Joe Ruklick clicked for 30 points as Northwestern snapped Notre Dame's streak of 18 straight victories at home. The lead changed hands 13 times and the score was tied 12 times before a pair of jump shots by Phil Warren put the Wildcats in front to stay.

Unheralded Denver spurred for 42 points in the second half after leading 31-29 at the intermission to humble Kansas.

Only two other members of the top 10 saw action. Kentucky, No. 2, turned on the power in the second half to throttle Duke 78-64. Sid Cohen led the way with 19 points. Eighth-ranked Mississippi State, behind Bailey Howell's 29-point barrage, wallowed Arkansas State 72-57.

North Carolina (No. 13), leading at halftime by just one point, began to click after the intermission and routed Virginia 83-61 with Harvey Salt hitting for 19 points. Michigan State (No. 15) outclassed Butler 72-46. Johnny Green sparked the Spartans with 18 points.

Marquette, No. 17, lost to Nebraska 62-60 despite a second-half rally that just fell short. The Cornhuskers led 33-26 at halftime.

SMU, No. 18, easily disposed of Wisconsin 81-63. St. John's of New York, tied for 20th place, led all the way to wallop Bridgeport 98-36.

Action Asked on Junk Yard, TV Reception

Zoning board hearings are slated for Thursday night in the city court room, on a petition opposing operation of an Abeel Street junk yard, and on complaint against reported television interference in a downtown area. The petition opposes Andy Buzzanco junk business, and the complaint against television interference holds that it is caused by machinery in The Freeman Publishing Company, Broadway and West Street.

The hearings, due to open at 8 p. m., will be conducted by Attorney George A. Beck, zoning board chairman. The petition opposing the junk business contains the names of several residents in the neighborhood of the Buzzanco property, and the claim of television interference was filed by Emerson DuBois, 11 Broadway.

Several persons were questioned about the bombing, but no one has been charged.

Riot for Loser May Delay Transition

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Thousands rioted in Caracas Monday night in support of a losing presidential candidate, threatening Venezuela's transition from dictatorship to a constitutional regime.

(No word on developments in the Venezuelan capital had been received in New York early today since shortly after midnight. Over seas telephone operators said their channels to Caracas were out of order.)

The rioters were supporters of Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal, head of the junta which took control of the government after the overthrow of dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez. In returns from Sunday's presidential election he was trailing former President Romulo Betancourt, head of the leftists but anti-Communist Democratic Action party.

Latest returns gave Betancourt 1,097,360 votes to 925,540 for Larrazabal. Rafael Caldera of the Christian Socialist party had 315,589 votes.

Probers Continue School Fire Inquiry

CHICAGO (AP) — Forty investigators continued their broad inquiry today into the Dec. 1 Our Lady of the Angels School fire. A top city official said it will not end until the cause has been determined.

Earle Downes, Chicago fire attorney, said investigators will talk to more than 500 persons. Cook County Coroner Walter E. McCarron announced the names of 16 men who will be on the jury at the inquest Wednesday into the deaths of 89 children and three nuns. Most are insurance company officials, engineers and architects.

McCarron said the jury's principal job is to determine the manner and cause of death.

'Repairmen' Get $50,000

LEWISBURG, Tenn. (AP)—Posing as telephone repairmen, three men took more than $50,000 from the safe of a prominent farmer Monday. The leader of the trio, armed with a gun, forced Mrs. J. W. Coffey and a neighbor, Mrs. Annie West, to lie on the floor under a quilt, warning them, "If you look out, I'll kill you." Coffey was away at the time.

Jury Indicts Goldfine on Contempt Count

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine on a charge of contempt of Congress.

The 18-count indictment was based on Goldfine's refusal to answer 22 questions put to him by the House Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, which last summer investigated Goldfine's relationship with Sherman Adams, then assistant to President Eisenhower.

The committee heard testimony that Goldfine, an old friend of Adams, made valuable gifts to Adams and that Adams had contacted federal agencies investigating Goldfine enterprises.

The questions Goldfine refused to answer were mostly about his financial dealings with a Boston company he controls. The House voted a contempt citation 379-8 on Aug. 13.

The law provides for maximum penalties of a year in jail and a fine of $1,000 for each count of contempt proven in court.

HST Would Like Senate Job, But Campaigning Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry S. Truman, who has said some of his happiest years were spent in the Senate, would like to return there. But he doesn't plan to run for the office.

Truman was asked at a news conference whether he would be interested in running for the remainder of the term of Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) if Symington were to get the 1960 presidential nomination. Truman was quick with a "no" on running for the office.

"But I'd be interested in being appointed to fill out his Senate term," the former President replied.

Sander Damaged By Woman's Car

A city sanding unit was damaged last night in a mishap near Forsyth Park on Lucas Avenue as a hill there was being sanded after a light fall of snow.

Public works sanding crews, which started out late last night, were still active today in various sections of the city.

A police report on the accident said the sander, on a truck, driven by John Long, of 215 Foxhall Avenue, was struck by a car operated by Mary Theresa Schonger, of Box 215-B, Route 4, Kingston, as it was headed south on Lucas Avenue.

No serious mishaps were reported as the result of the light snow despite slippery conditions on the streets.

If the more than 5,000 golf courses in the U.S. were placed end to end, they would form a 16-lane highway 8,000 miles long.

One Wants Out Vegas Strippers Disgusted With Men, Women Too

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The imported strippers at the Stardust Hotel hide little but their thoughts—and it's a good thing they do.

All 12 of these bare-bosomed beauties are disgusted with American men, and with American women too.

The men shout obscenities at them. The women giggle so loudly that a few have been asked to leave.

Feel Cheapened
These girls, members of the Lido Club troupe from Paris, always regarded themselves as artists—until they played Las Vegas. Now, after seven months of indignities, they feel cheapened. At least one of them plans to quit.

When the girls first came here, they thought Las Vegas would be a wonderful place to meet American millionaires. Some of them did—to their shame and sorrow.

Red-haired Anne Gibson, 20, was introduced to a wealthy American soon after arriving here from London last May.

Did he propose marriage? "No, he proposed something else," Anne said. "I got up and left the table."

Katinka Bleeker, who used to be a photographers' model in Amsterdam, summed up the Troupe's attitude toward American men.

"They are not nice," said the 19-year-old blonde. "I don't like people who like to buy things with money."

The strippers share the spotlight in the show with the Bluebells, a troupe of dancers from England who do not appear on stage uncovered. Some of the Bluebells also have a low opinion of American men.

Complains Bluebell Anke Linschoten, 19, of Amsterdam: All they talk about is their cars and their money.

Nothing Vulgar
Linda Evans, 20, who appeared with the show at the Lido in Paris without shame, says, "I don't like showing my busts to these men."

Linda does not plan to stay with the show.

Most of the girls, however, still see nothing wrong with nudity. "Why shouldn't girls show themselves off to good advantage?" asks Enid Mills, 26, captain of the Bluebells. "Nothing in the show is vulgar. The costumes of the Bluebells themselves are enough to look at, apart from the girls with bare bosoms."

Why, then, are bare bosoms necessary? "Now that is a difficult question," said Enid. "I think that it's the same thing as looking at an oil painting. Why do they paint naked women? Because a bare bosom is a thing of beauty."

The show has broken all attendance records at the Stardust. Some 1,400 persons leave gambling tables and bars each night to see it.
